berg that proved the great ship's undoing would have been fixed.

Frederick Fleet, the Titanic's lookout man, who was in the crow's nest at the time of the collision, will be subjected to another fire of questions in an effort to get him to fix the time he first reported the obstruction to the officers on the bridge. Thus, he claimed yesterday, he was unable to do.

There was the usual crowd of the curious in the corridors of the Senate office building long before the committee met. The great majority of them were women, who used all their wiles and cajoleries in vain efforts to get past the two giant guard guards who stood sentinel at the doors. The committee refused to permit anyone inside the room except the witnesses, the survivors and the representatives of the press.

The first witness called to the stand as the first witness of the day when the hearing was resumed at 10:15 o'clock.

TO CALL BRITISH FIRST.

Senator William Alden Smith, the chairman, announced after a meeting with his colleagues that the British witnesses would be called as rapidly as possible before any more passengers were examined.

Senator Burton asked Witness Fleet:

"When you were on the Titanic west of your eyes examined?"

"Yes."

"How often?"

"Frequently."

"Can you distinguish colors?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you, when in the Titanic's crow's nest, see a light?"

"No. I saw no light until I got in the lifeboat. Then I saw a bright light on the forward bow, I don't know what it was. Mr. Lightoller saw it before we got off the Titanic and told us to pull toward it. It finally disappeared. We never made out what it was."

"When you have binoculars, what share of time do you have the glasses to your eyes while on the lookout?"

"If we fancy we see anything on the horizon," said Fleet, "then we use the glasses to make sure."

Fleet said he saw no lifeboats loaded other than No. 6, the boat in which he pulled away with about thirty passengers.

NONE ON DECKS.

"Were there any women left on the decks who did not get in the boats?"

"No, sir; I saw none."

The witness said that there were men on the decks, but that none of them sought or ever asked to be taken.

"Did you hear any cries for help?" asked Senator Smith.

"Yes, but they were very faint."

"Did you go back to help?"

"No, sir. Some of the passengers wanted to, but the quartermaster who was in command ordered us to keep on rowing."

"From your experience in trying to estimate how far the Titanic was from the iceberg when you sighted it, I should say you did not have any judgment of distance," Senator Smith commented.

"No, I have not," Fleet answered, and then was excused.

Senator Smith then arose and formally announced that he wanted to ask the witness questions that related to the purposes of the committee.

WANTS ALL FACTS.

"It is to get all the facts attending this catastrophe," he said. "The surviving officers and men of the ship are not shipbuilders and we can get from them what they know. It is all that we can expect. Now, a word as to the plan. It is the intention of the committee to inquire of all subjects of Great Britain who may be in this country and who have any knowledge of the disaster and to hold them here until we have learned all that we can."

"This course will be pursued until the committee concludes it has obtained all accessible and useful information to a proper understanding of this disaster. Now, a word about the difficulty."

"To the credit of most of the officers and members of the crew, we have experienced a little difficulty in securing such witnesses as we thought necessary, but from the beginning until now there has been voluntary, gratuitous and commendable attempts on the part of certain persons to influence the committee and to shape its proceedings."

"Misrepresentations have been made, I have heard. I have not, however, read the newspapers, because I did not wish to be prejudiced."

"The representatives of the press have all co-operated in every possible way to lighten the burden of the committee."

"This committee will not tolerate any further attempt on the part of anyone to shape its course. We shall proceed in our own way, and the judgment of our efforts will be withheld until those who criticize our course may have opportunity to examine the facts and to state their views."

As Senator Smith delivered this announcement he spoke emphatically and punctuated his remarks by pounding the table with his fist. Afterward he did not give any detailed explanation of what he intimated him to make the statement.

FIFTH OFFICER WITNESS.

Harold G. Lowe, fifth officer of the Titanic, was the next witness.

"You were present at the test of the Titanic in Belfast harbor?" asked Senator Smith.

"Yes, sir."

"What did you do?"

"I looked to the lifeboats. With Mr. Moody and Mr. Boxhall, I looked over the lifeboats, examined them and found that everything in them, except that in one a dipper was missing."

As to the collapsible boats, Lowe said he could not remember precisely what he found.

"We did not have any extra oars for each boat."

The witness said while it had been planned to hold a lifeboat drill April 1, it was postponed because there was a heavy fog. In fact, the witness said, it was almost "legally."

He said that before the Titanic sailed one drill of the crew was held. He could not say whether it was held at Belfast or in the harbor at Southampton. He also testified when asked his station, and did not know whether any other officers were at their stations on the starboard side of the ship, where his station was located.

"I was a complete stranger in the ship," he said, in explanation. Later he remembered that the test was held at Southampton. He was in charge of one of the two boats lowered there in the drill, considered in development, its exact plans were guarded.

Resolutions instructing the four delegates-at-large to the national convention to vote for re-nomination of President Taft were adopted and the convention adjourned at 4 o'clock.

READY FOR FIGHT.

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—After spending a large part of the night in caucuses at the leaders of the Taft and Roosevelt forces in Missouri, I have here this morning prepared to fight out their differences later in the day by waging a stubborn struggle for the state committee's appointment of temporary chairman of tomorrow's convention. Both sides admitted that this appointment would be a long step toward the victory which each declares it will win tomorrow.

State politics will play a large part in the controversy. Roosevelt men declared this morning they intended presenting Governor Hadley's name for the temporary chairmanship, admitting at the same time that the move would be made on the theory that as Republicans the delegates cannot afford to discredit the administration and will have to recognize any request made in the name of the Republican end of the state administration.

If the Taft men's program is carried out, Governor Hadley will not be appointed either to the temporary chair or to the delegation-at-large to the national convention. According to their plans this morning Congressman Barthold will be presented for temporary chairmanship.

A bitter fight is expected over the seating of delegates. Only delegates who will be admitted to the floor of the convention in the first regiment armory building this morning, and the delegates will have to wait to await action by the convention committee on credentials.

INSTRUCT FOR TAFT.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 24.—Resolutions instructing the delegates to Chicago to support President Taft's candidacy for the nomination "unless released," were adopted. Besides instructing for Taft, the state platform endorses the presidential policy and calls for the recall of judges and judicial decisions.

REFUGEES REPORT REIGN OF TERROR

from Fort Rosecrans and a force of Mexican federal soldiers have been playing a game of hide and seek on the international boundary line between Campo and Jacumba. When the outlaws, mostly Americans, and who are believed to be an insubordinate force, appear on the American side they are charged by the American soldiers and driven across the line into Mexico.

When they confront the federal soldiers the border they scurry to the American side of the line. Several skirmishes have taken place in which there has been firing by both the American soldiers and the Mexican federalists, answered by the outlaws with snipers and sniping rifles.

The last skirmish between the American troops and the rebels was reported yesterday.

It is now reported that the outlaws have entrenched themselves in rough hills on the Mexican side, and are continuing their operations. The leader of the band is said to be Juan Tobo, who was an officer under Pryce, Mosby and Laffin during the revolution of one year ago. The men are said to be well mounted and armed.

CRUELTY RAMPANT.

GALVESTON, April 24.—Refugees from Mexico continued today to tell of harrowing experiences with Mexican guerrillas and self-styled instructors in the republic. W. R. M. Lins, an American attorney of Honolulu, and J. Flaxen, an American engineer, declared that never in their lives had they conceived of the cruelty to the living and the desecration of the dead they recently had witnessed in Mexico. Lawyer Lins declares he personally knows of the torture.

"I was greatly excited," he was saying excitedly, "lower away, lower away, lower away."

Chairman Smith asked Ismay suggested that the objectionable language be written down to see if it was appropriate. This was done. After Chairman Smith had read what Lowe had written he said:

"Then you said to Mr. Ismay, 'not mentioning the objectionable word but showing it to the witness.' 'Why did you say it?'"

"Because he, in his anxiety to get the boat lowered," Lowe replied, "was interfering with our work."

Big Vessels Best, Says Captain Turner

NEW YORK, April 24.—Before the steamer left for England early this morning Captain W. T. Turner discussed the Titanic disaster briefly.

"It still remains an indisputable fact," he declared, "that large vessels are superior to smaller crafts. No vessel is unsinkable, but the big ship is stronger than the little one and keeps afloat longer after a collision. This gives them time to get the lifeboats off and to do the utmost possible for the survivors."

"The officers of the Titanic displayed the highest efficiency in the face of a great emergency. They deserve great commendation for preventing any panic on board. Some persons were drowned who might have been saved, but on the other hand a panic among the passengers or a stampede for the boats would have caused terrible consequences."

KILLS HIMSELF ON OCEAN BOULEVARD

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—K. R. Berglund, 35 years old, a member of the sailors' union, committed suicide about fifty feet off the great highway near Ocean beach some time last night. The body was found this morning by Richard Knapp of 485 Eleventh avenue. Berglund had shot himself twice with a revolver which was found clutched in his right hand. There was no note on the body and no reason could be ascribed for the act.

CROOKS THREATEN OAKLAND POLICE

Another Officer Is Fired Upon; Anonymous Letter Received.

Twelfth street and Thirteenth avenue late Sunday afternoon.

"I met this man at the races at the motorcade. We entered into conversation about the races and afterward walked back toward Oakland together."

"The man had been to sea and said he was a 'douglas' or waiter on board a vessel. He told me some sea stories. On the way back toward Oakland we passed a drunken man lying in a field among some cows. His cap had rolled off and the man who said his name was Brownie Denison, or Denning, or something like that, said he thought he would get the cap."

"I waited while he went into the lot and picked up the cap. He stuffed the cap inside his coat so that it bulged out. He told me as we were walking that he had been to Alaska and that he always protected himself with a revolver. He showed me a .38-caliber nickel-plated revolver."

POLICEMAN APPEARS.

"When we reached East Twelfth street and Thirteenth avenue I saw Special Policeman Williams at the corner. I knew him and he came out to meet me."

"Where are you going?" he asked.

"I told him I was on my way home. Then he asked the man where he was going and the fellow told him he was on his way back to town. The policeman noticed that the man's coat bulged and asked him what he had there, and then he grabbed him and pulled the cap out from under his coat."

"I guess you better come with me and explain about this," said Williams.

We walked along the street toward the lockup, with the stranger a few feet ahead of Williams.

"When we came to the alleyway the man suddenly jumped into the opening."

"Come in here and let's fight it out," he said to Williams.

"Aw, come on and don't be a fool," replied the policeman. Then without warning the stranger shot twice, the bullets striking Williams in the eye and over the heart. With a groan the policeman fell against me.

The stranger ran down the alleyway. I was afraid I would be accused of the murder and I ran all the way home without stopping.

"I told my father about the affair and my father told Patrolman Bergsen, and then the police came after me. I had nothing to do with the affair but what I say."

YOUTH RELEASED.

The boy has been released from custody.

Releasing a bulletin upon the boy's statements the police have sent out the following description of the murderer:

"April 23, 1912.

"Office of the chief of police, Oakland, Cal. Bureau of Criminal Identification.

Wanted for murder.

"On the night of April 22, 1912, Special Police Officer S. A. Williams was shot and killed by the following described man:

"Age between 25 and 30, about 5 feet 6 inches tall; weight about 140 pounds; dark complexion; hair black; eyes dark; mustache; brown eyes; dark hair; was dressed in a light brown coat, dark striped trousers, a dark derby hat, blue shirt with no necktie; no vest; pointed black shoes, laced, about size six; said his name was something like Brownie Denison or Denning. Has been a sailor or waiter aboard vessels plying between Alaska, San Francisco, and Seattle."

"He carried a .38-caliber nickel plated revolver. Watch the waterfront, outgoing vessels, cheap lodging houses and sailor's boarding houses. He had no money."

"Reported any information of the above to A. Wilson, chief of police; by W. J. Petersen, acting chief of police."

CRUDE LETTER RECEIVED.

The second chapter in the fight between the police and the thugs is written in the form of the following illiterate communication, which, according to the police, bears the indications of being the actual message from the crooks in Oakland.

"Oakland, April 22, 1912.

"You want to know about the Williams affair. Well, I'll tell you. The fact is gone out among all the boys all over the county that Oakland is a hell-hole for the man that falls in the hands of the police. I want to tell you that ever since the want of air to breathe, and if he don't do that, the — clum him to death anyway. If they find he's from the east."

"And so the word has gone forth around the protest, to croak any cop who tries to put a stop to Oakland."

"I never seen Williams before, and I'm sure I'll never see him again, but I'm telling you that he ain't the only — on the Oakland police force that will get croaked."

"I want that you get arrested in Oakland. I want a hole where the crooks, even the — in Oakland."

"I am still in the old town."

ATTACK ON MURPHY.

Policeman Murphy, who resides at 2348 East Fourteenth street, was attacked by two thugs last night shortly after 10 o'clock at East Fourth street and Twelfth-second avenue. The men opened fire upon him, and it was only the darkness which prevented their aim being poor so that the shots missed their target.

Murphy saw the two men attempting to force the door of the Brooklyn hotel and approached them, ordering them to surrender. The men started across the street toward a lumber yard, and as they did so, one said to the other:

"Here's another cop. Let's get the —"

With that they opened fire, shooting several times at the policeman. The two thugs fled into the lumber yard and Murphy notified the police and called for assistance.

Night Captain Charles Beck with a posse of patrolmen in the police automatic search, and a search was made of the lumberyard. No trace of the men was discovered. The patrolmen who accompanied Beck were Dutton, Lohren, Hunley and Orbell.

CAPTURES START FEUD.

The special animosity of the crooks and professional peggymen toward the Oakland police is believed to be due to the fact that a number of captures have been effected in Oakland in the past few months of criminals wanted in various parts of the country. Miller, a murderer from Tennessee, known as "Jimmy" Courteney, a famous postoffice safe cracker; a man wanted in Boston, and several other crooks have been captured by the Oakland police.

vessel is expected to reach the scene soon.

The White Star line officials believe the search for the bodies will be expedited by the addition of the Minia, making it possible for one boat to return to Halifax while the other continues the search. It was pointed out, too, that the bodies probably are scattered over a wide area and it will take some time to complete the search.

The White Star line announced today that they have sent two men to Halifax to look after the recovered bodies of the Titanic victims, with instructions as to how the identifications are to be made.

The White Star officials have endeavored to get into communication with the Mackay-Bennett to instruct her to put in at Halifax.

ASTOR HELD BIG ESTATE IN TRUST

$125,000,000 Property Will Pass to Son Under Will of Grandfather.

NEW YORK, April 24.—At the law office of Carter Ledyard, in this city, it was said yesterday that the will of John Jacob Astor would be filed for probate some time within the next two or three weeks. Just when the will would be filed the member of the firm who has the matter in charge could not say. The possibility of another heir to the Astor estate would not make any difference in the filing of the will.

Colonel Astor made a new will at the time of his marriage to Miss Force. The disposition of property under it has been kept secret, but it is known that he made provision for issue by the marriage.

The bulk of Colonel Astor's fortune was left in trust to him through the will of his father, William Astor. Upon the death of Colonel Astor the property included in the trust passed to Colonel Astor's son, William Vincent Astor, it was explained.

The lawyers refuse, however, to give any details as to the disposition of the estate, which is estimated at $125,000,000.

At the time of his second marriage Colonel Astor settled $5,000,000 on his bride, in view of which, it is understood, she relinquished her dower rights in order that the estate might remain intact. As provision also had been made for the first Mrs. Astor, lawyers say the bulk of the estate will go to Colonel Astor's son, Vincent, who will keep it intact.

For 1912 Colonel Astor was taxed on real property in New York valued at $41,202,800.

DENY THAT ROCKS SANK GIANT LINER

Navy Hydrographers Declare Water Is Too Deep in the Vicinity of Wreck.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—With the Virgin rocks fully 250 miles north of where the Titanic foundered, navy hydrographers express the opinion that it is exceedingly improbable the liner struck those or any semi-submerged rocks.

While no soundings have ever been made in the immediate vicinity where the Titanic went down, they explain that soundings farther northward show a steady decline of the sea bottom toward the ship's position.

It is declared at the hydrographic office that as the water where the Titanic struck is approximately 20 miles deep, it would take a formation with an enormous base to bring the apex anywhere near the surface, and soundings at a ten-knot distance would show a rise in the bottom. The nearest soundings made south of the point where the disaster occurred are sixty miles away and these show 2100 fathoms.

Nothing is known of how the Narbonne met her fate in 1893, but records say she might have struck an iceberg, been wrecked in a field of ice, or had an explosion; but all the charts reveal is that two of her boats were found on March 4, 1893, at latitude 42 north and longitude 46 west.

GIVES NOVEL REASONS AGAINST ALIMONY

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—A. Burt Wesner, a local actor who for more than a year has been paying $10 a month alimony to his divorced wife, Mrs. Annie Wesner, filed notice today for a motion for a release of the obligation. Wesner states that he is married again and that he can ill afford the stipend and also that his first wife is an actress and capable of earning her own living.

WOMAN ARRESTED ON SHOPLIFTING CHARGE

Caught in the act of secreting a hat under her cloak in the Jacobs Millinery and Dry Goods store, 527 Twelfth street, Mrs. M. E. Warner, alias Gilligan, supposedly of Chicago, was arrested today on the complaint of Miss L. Goldberg, a clerk, who held the alleged shop-lifter until the arrival of Patrolman Edward Conway.

In on suspicion, and the Oakland detectives have forced admissions from them or have succeeded through the complete and identification system installed by Expert Harry Caldwell, in fixing crimes upon the suspects.

The following resolutions of respect to the memory of Special Officer Williams and of sympathy for his family were passed by the directors of the Merchants' Exchange at their meeting last night:

"Resolved, that we tender our sincere sympathy to his widow, family and relatives in their affliction."

"Resolved, that we offer this tribute to his memory in gratitude for his faithful service to the call of duty and regret so valuable a life should be sacrificed in the service of the public."

Motions Pictures of Wreck to Be Barred

CANTON, Ohio, April 24.—Moving picture exhibitions of the Titanic disaster will be prohibited in Canton, safety Director Dunwoodie notified proprietors of moving picture places and theaters to that effect. The director said he had learned the pictures were being shown and that they were so horrible that they would leave a bad impression on the minds of women and children.

Men Passengers Played Cards
Long After Liner Struck
Iceberg.

NEW YORK, April 24.—A group of men passengers on the Titanic kept a card game going for three-quarters of an hour after the steamer struck the iceberg to allay the fears of others according to George Bradley, one of the first cabin passengers. Bradley was playing bridge in a room far aft on the ship and felt only a slight shock from the collision. Henry B. Harris was in another party in the same room, Bradley said, and left his game to go on deck with Bradley to investigate. Harris, Bradley said, found his wife, saw her one of the boats, and then came back to the room to which Bradley already had returned.

"He told me there was danger," Bradley said, "but for the sake of the women and children to make no sign. The orchestra struck up 'Alexander's Ragtime Band,' and we went on playing cards. There was not a man in the game who did not realize the stake he was playing for, there was not a man who did not know what those musicians were playing for. They played on, played anything they had a mind to, and finally struck up 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.'"

BLUFF AT END.
"Then we knew that the time had come and that it was no use to bluff any longer. People crowded around us and watched us play the game out, feeling that there could be no danger. When the old hymn sounded a different feeling possessed them. They knew that it was time to go if any one of us hoped for a chance to get off the ship."

"How any man was going to save himself none of that bunch knew. It took only a few moments on deck to realize that we were all too late for the lifeboats. The last ones were being lowered."

Bradley said that he ran between decks and managed to get into a boat as it was being lowered. A boat was not a bit crowded, he said, but it was not more than 100 yards from the Titanic when the steamer went down.

300 OF OLYMPIC'S CREW STRIKE BEFORE LINER SAILS

Firemen and Greasers Declare Collapsible
Lifeboats Are Unseaworthy

SOUTHAMPTON, England, April 24.—Three hundred of the firemen and greasers belonging to the crew of the Olympic struck five minutes before the White Star liner was due to sail today for New York. The men deserted the ship in a body. They gave as their reason for striking that the collapsible lifeboats installed on the vessel were unseaworthy.

Commander Clarke offered to take the Olympic to the Coast Road and allow any of the crew to select any boat or boats on board and he would prove by demonstration that they were absolutely safe. The men refused to be convinced and left the ship in a body.

One of them said he had punched his number through the canvas of one of the collapsible boats.

By pressing into service all the available engine room hands on the White Star and American liners in port the Olympic was able to proceed down Southampton water where officials declared the vessel was unseaworthy.

BE BRITISH, MY MEN!
(By CHRISTOPHER RUESS)
"Captain Smith stood on the bridge and shouted through a megaphone: 'Be British, my men,' and not a man failed him."—Surviving Seaman.

"Who shall go, and who shall stay?"
"Men, be British, 'tis Judgment Day!"

"Not one man shall be saved from the sea
Till the women and children are safer than he."

Cried the ship's Captain, a Captain of Souls,
Tombing with 'Titanic' now where ocean rolls.

Nobly that crew from the greatest to least
Lived the distinction 'twixt man and the beast.

Glory of strong men, to die for the weak!
Glory of seamen, to give, not to seek!

Why linger longer when here in an hour
One can live life to its ultimate power?

Ye that die nobly live well and live long,
All men shall crown you in story and song.

Seamen and landmen, we laud you again:
Dead, still ye speak, and we hear, "Men, be men!"

Poor human nature, thus paying in greed
Lives of the helpless, by hundreds, for speed!

Great human nature, that knoweth to die:
Ocean may hide, but to God thou art nigh!

BELIEVES OTHERS WERE PICKED UP

St. John's Master Declares
There is Hope That Strong
Men Were Saved.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 24.—Out of the depths comes a ray of hope that all who were missing from the Titanic list of living made up before it sailed from Southampton are not lost beyond recall. More may be saved to add to the survivors brought to New York by the Carpathia. Some may have been picked up after hours or days on floating wreckage of steel, hugging close to the ice on ice floes or bergs. It is the opinion of Captain Robert W. MacKenzie, a well known master of St. John's, who scouts the theory that all those not already accounted for are necessarily dead.

Captain MacKenzie is in Halifax just now, having been in Boston in the week being done to scour the waters off the banks for floating bodies and return them to land for burial. He has raised a number of his associates and there are many ways in which the passengers and sailors left aboard the liner when she was abandoned may still be saved.

The captain puts stress on the testimony given that for an hour after the ship sank cries for help were heard by the people in the lifeboats, cries growing fainter and fainter as the little flotilla rode together against the tide. Keeping as far as possible in the track of the main body of the ship, the third officer had noted—the lights of the ship which he heard the pathetic crackle of the torches flash, but he saw no light held on her course. The increasing faintness of those cries, Captain MacKenzie points out, is not necessarily a sign that those who were calling for help were growing weaker and weaker until their voices became still in death.

TIDE MAY HAVE AIDED.
The survivors were floating with the tide, which was bearing them farther and farther away from the boats, out of the track of the liners, but into the path of the tramp steamers and sailing ships. The drift of the stream, the captain believes, would take them at a speed of three knots an hour and he is convinced that strong swimmers might hold out, borne up by pieces of wreckage which are known to have been discarded from the decks and hull after the explosion.

The huge tables shot out of the saloons, chairs from the larger lockers, deck chairs, lifebuoys and all this, says Captain MacKenzie, would be aids of refuge to strong men battling for life. Such things, he believes, would aid the survivors in the water and he is confident that strong swimmers might hold out, borne up by pieces of wreckage which are known to have been discarded from the decks and hull after the explosion.

Urge Protection for British Witnesses

LONDON, April 24.—Renewed interest in the American Senate's inquiry into the loss of the Titanic and the status of the debris that was evinced by members of the House of Commons today, when many questions were asked of Francis Dyke Ackland parliamentary under secretary for foreign affairs. Alexander MacCallum Scott, a Scottish member, said: "Are you aware that those called before the Senate committee are not receiving fair and honorable treatment for British subjects?"

Ackland replied: "No such complaint has been received by us. Surely in this matter we must trust, as I think we are right in doing, to the good sense of the American people and we do not desire to interfere without abundant necessity."

"I am not aware of the precise grounds on which the United States Senate inquiry is being held. I understand the object is to determine the responsibility for the disaster. As far as I am aware, there never has been previously a foreign inquiry into the loss of a British vessel on the high seas."

TRUSTS TO AMERICA.
Roland Ferguson, another Scottish member, expressed fears lest witnesses necessary to the British inquiry into the disaster might be detained, but Ackland dismissed the suggestion.

"I feel sure we can trust to the usual good sense of the American Senate and the American people not to desire to detain persons whose attendance might be required at a court of inquiry in this country."

Leo, member for Hampshire, suggested that instructions should be sent to the British Ambassador at Washington to protect British subjects summoned by the committee "who apparently have no one to defend their rights at present."

Ackland did not doubt that if protection was desired by British citizens, instructions would be sent, "but we hope that the case may not arise."

Scott asked if the Senate committee "is not a political committee conducted by people who are not experts in this matter."

Ackland replied: "I do not think it is our place to investigate it. It appears that the committee of the Senate has power to summon witnesses and to administer oaths and we have not thought that we were entitled to go further than that in the matter."

The catechism closed with a suggestion from William O'Brien that many American citizens had lost their lives and the interest in the disaster was as great in the United States as in Great Britain.

Herbert L. Samuel, the Postmaster General, said he had called for reports of all wireless dispatches that had been sent by ships and wireless stations in connection with the Titanic disaster.

Sidney Buxton, president of the Board of Trade, announced that the number of women and children who perished in the Titanic catastrophe was 156.

Says Captain Smith
Shot Down Several

OTTAWA, Ont., April 24.—Mrs. Mariana Asaset, the only survivor of a party of ten Syrians that sailed on the Titanic, reached her home in Ottawa early yesterday.

Mrs. Asaset told friends here that she saw steerage passengers attempt to rush the lifeboats and that Captain Smith shot down several of them.

"Not all the women who desired to get into the boats were rescued," continued Mrs. Asaset. "Three cousins of mine pleaded for a seat but were refused."

"The steerage passengers were all in bed when the ship struck the iceberg and there was not much fear of danger."

Germany to Urge
International Rules

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Germany has taken the lead in a movement to secure greater safety to passengers on the high seas by international agreement. Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, informed the state department today that the Imperial government believed that the time was now ripe for an agreement between all maritime nations. Germany stands ready to enter into negotiations to that end.

PROBATION MEN JUSTIFY SERVICE

Saving to Tax Payers of $12,-
900 in Six Months
Shown in Report.

A saving to the taxpayers in six months of $12,900, by inducing guilty men to depend on the mercy of the court rather than seek escape by trial on technicalities is reported to Probation Officer Ruess by his assistant S. Bruce Wright. Wright investigated grown men charged with petty offenses in the superior court. Fifty-seven such cases have been referred to him, his recommendations to date have been adopted by the court in all but two instances. Thirty have been granted probation, sixteen have been denied probation, eleven cases are pending.

All but one of the fifty-seven pleaded guilty instead of going to trial. To date not one of the thirty has positively failed on probation, though six months is not soon enough to judge. One has disappeared, and two have been arrested for minor violations of probation and given a last chance. The crimes dealt with include: burglaries, 7; grand larceny, 7; failure to provide a dwelling, 2; sex crimes, 2; embezzlement, destroying a public jail, and bringing morphine into a public jail, 1 each.

Sixty percent of these probationers are under thirty years of age. Forty percent took the strong drink road, and sixteen percent the gambling road toward reformation.

Had these thirty men been sent to San Quentin instead of being released on their honor on probation, the average of fifty cents per day per man for an average term of two years would have cost the taxpayers over $12,900. The savings is not so much the money saved by the method of reform as the neat little sum of $10,800. Add to this the $2100 saved on trials and a total saving appears of $12,900, to say nothing of the saving of manhood.

EVER SEE BABY
ELEPHANT RACE?

"Muggsy," Star of Sells-Floto
Show, Gallops With Midget Equine.

Did you ever see a baby elephant running a race around the Hippodrome track of a circus with a pony? The chances are you have never seen one of this kind, because it is one of the new ones introduced by the Sells-Floto circus this year and was imported from Europe especially for this season at no small expense. You will see the circus arrive here on Monday next for a two-day engagement you must certainly come over and see this laughable performance, even if otherwise you have that tired feeling regarding them of the tinsel and sawdust.

"Muggsy" is the elephant's name. He is a cunning little chap 17 months old, who was brought from India last year and is now in the big hippodrome at Hamburg. He is said to be the most apt pupil which has ever graduated from that great institution of animal learning. And he can show speed that would make the ordinary race horse ashamed of himself. His opponent in this event is little "Sunday," the smallest horse in the world, and to see these two straining every nerve for supremacy is really one of the most entertaining and at the same time ridiculous features ever introduced under a "big top."

On the morning that the circus arrives here the usual parade will be given at 10:30 o'clock.

It should be especially noted that the Sells-Floto people will adhere to their policy of popular prices, and that the general admission fee of 25 cents admits to the menagerie and the performance in its entirety. The regular admission will be opened on the grounds as early as 9 o'clock.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—The efforts of the Spring Valley Water Company to prevent the removal of the company's pipes by the city in the interests of the auxiliary fire systems were set at naught in a decision rendered this morning by Superior Judge Beawell. ROOSEVELT BRAND SEARS ONE MORE

Rep. Gardner's Charge Denied by Colonel in Brief Statement.

NEW YORK, April 24. — Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in a statement given out last night dealing with the correspondence with Representative Gardner of Massachusetts in the matter of the attitude of President Taft toward Senator Lorimer, denies that he charged "that Senator Lorimer had President Taft's assistance and support."

Mr. Gardner's statement is false, says the Colonel, and after quoting from a telegram he sent to Gardner, adds: "I know that originally, a year and a quarter ago, or thereabouts, Mr. Taft was against Lorimer. I have heard conflicting reports as to what his attitude has since been, but I know that that attitude has favored Mr. Lorimer, as is shown by Mr. Lorimer's action in earnestly and cordially supporting Mr. Taft, and by the action of all the most prominent Taft leaders in the Senate in supporting Mr. Lorimer."

Colonel Roosevelt further denies Gardner's accusation that he "suppressed the reports of Herbert Knox Smith, Commissioner of Corporations, with regard to the Lorimer trust."

Also that he ever "made exceptions in instituting proceedings against favorite trusts of mine."

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt returned yesterday from his trip to the West and South, and was at once to his home at Oyster Bay, where he will remain until Friday. Colonel Roosevelt will then go to Massachusetts.

MAKES PLEA FOR FALLEN WOMAN

Miss Jane Addams Declares Attitude Toward Social Evil Is Test of Religion.

NEW YORK, April 24. — Society's attitude toward prostitution was advanced as the supreme test of the Christian religion by Miss Jane Addams of Chicago in a speech on "The Church and the Social Evil," before the Men and Religion Forward Movement Congress yesterday.

"The supreme religious test of our social order," said Miss Addams, "is the hideous commerce of prostitution and the sorry result of that test that are registered in the hypocrisy and hardness of heart of the average good citizen toward the so-called fallen woman."

The policy of treating the social evil as a matter of contemptuous indifference, Miss Addams declared, had formed the groundwork for political corruption.

"Prostitution protected by a thick hedge of secrecy," she continued, "imperceptibly renewing itself through changing administrations, is the one point of maladministration, the unbreakable bank to which the corrupt politician may repair when in need of funds. The corruption spreads until the brothel, the saloon and the gambling den are the trio literally at the base of the real administration of our cities."

WILSON GIVEN ROUSING RECEPTION IN PATERSON

PATERSON, N. J., April 24. — Governor Woodrow Wilson, the guest of honor last night at the annual dinner of the Woodrow Wilson Democratic Club here, got a rousing reception when introduced shortly before midnight.

The Governor spoke on "Progress and the Smallness of the Individual in That Progress."

He declared that the present crisis was settling the question of how far we are going to dominate a game of us instead of the usual domination of all by the few.

He said he understood that twenty-three directors of the United States Steel Corporation control fifty-five per cent of the railroads of the United States, a large proportion of the finances of the country, many steamship lines, and much commerce and industry.

Was it, thought wise, he said, to permit so few men to have such control, especially as their influence had led them to place their hands on the politics of the country? Such men, he said, became so imbued with their importance that they were unable to conceive government in the terms of democracy.

CORRECT SALE PRICE OF OAKLAND CORNER

EDITOR TRIBUNE: In THE TRIBUNE of Sunday, April 21, there appeared an account of a real estate transaction in the corner of a piece of property at the northeast corner of Seventh and Franklin streets, sold by R. B. Mott of Alameda, as agent, to O. P. Stidger of San Francisco.

The statement was made that the price was $37,500. That is a correct. It was sold for $32,500. The property was on the market for two years or more, and the last named figure was the best obtainable figure.

The Superior Court approved of the sale, which was made in closing up the Betz estate.

I would like to have this correction made through the columns of your paper in order that there be no misunderstanding as a result of the previous article mentioned above.

(Signed) ALBERT KATSER, Receiver for the Betz estate.

LOS ANGELES POLICE COURTS IDLE ALL DAY

LOS ANGELES, April 24. — Police reports on file show that yesterday was one of the most quiet days in this city's history. Except for a few penalties imposed in the "Burglar" court, there police judges sat all day without finding one person or sending one to jail. No persons were arrested on felony charges. Only one case was handled by receiving hospital surgeons and that was for an almost trivial injury.

"AUSTRALIA MACK" HELD FOR THEFT IN CANADA

NEW YORK, April 24. — John McNamara of San Francisco, known as "Australia Mack," was yesterday held by a United States court commissioner for extradition to New Westminster, B. C., where he was wanted for alleged connection with the robbery last September of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal. The sum taken from the bank is said to have been $241,000. The warrant on which McNamara is held charges him with breaking into a garage.

Goodrich—the Original American Clincher—started right 15 years ago, by adopting and perfecting the integral

Molded Construction

Tires "built as a unit, cured as a unit" proved greatest in strength, — cohesion, — mileage service, — then, as now.

Today, the strongest adherents of other methods are turning to the molded process. They know now it is the best way to make a good automobile tire.

We did the experimenting long ago—and offer users a two-fold benefit:—

Sound construction to begin with and more than a decade of improvements—including the inimitable White Tough Tread

Goodrich Tires are made in all styles, to fit all rims, and to suit all purposes.

There has never been a season when the direct, unforced demand for these tires did not exceed by thousands the utmost capacity of our factories. The issue has been met this year by a which will enable us to care for both dealers and users to the fullest extent.

Now is the time to decide.

Will it be

MAGNETIC SOUTH POLE LIKE WILL O' THE WISP

LONDON, April 24. — The Australian mail yesterday brought details from Hobart, Tasmania, of the news brought there on March 18 by the ship Aurora which took Dr. Douglas Mawson's Antarctic expedition to Adelle Land.

Among other things the expedition had proved that Adelle Land, which was reported to have been discovered by Durville in 1838, did not exist.

Dr. Mawson sent back by the Aurora a letter in which he describes the southern magnetic pole as a force center which, like a will o' the wisp, is dancing around daily within a circular area the diameter of which is variable and uncertain. It may be a few miles or more than thirty. The whole area it has traveled is 240 miles in sixty-nine years.

ASSESSMENT OF $20,300 IS LEVIED AT MODESTO

MODESTO, April 24. — An assessment of $20,300 for the improvements needed and the payment of back salaries for employees was voted by the Board of Directors of the Modesto Irrigation district at the regular meeting. The assessment has been passed up to the people twice since the board failed to vote it by the necessary two-thirds and the people have defeated it. The board also set May 29 as the date of the recall elections against Covell, Traak and Gilman, directors of the district.

PRINCE MAY VISIT.

LONDON, April 24. — The suggestion that Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany is going to the United States is conveyed in a paragraph in today's Times in recording a German deal in Welsh coal which is to be sent to Fayal in the Azores. "It is understood," says the Times, "that the coal is required for German war ships in connection with the visit of the Crown Prince to America."

CALL PORT FOR NEW STEAM LINE

Lonsdale, First Vessel of Fleet to Do Local Shipping Business.

The British freighter Lonsdale, Captain E. E. of the Canadian Pacific Steamship line, arrived here today, and tied up at Long wharf, where she is picking up a cement cargo. The vessel is the first of a new line of steamships to make this their port of call and according to rumor this ship will receive the bulk of the new line's shipping. The Lonsdale came from Salina Cruz, and reports a rough passage, she being nine days in making the run from the southern port. She will probably sail for Puget Sound, to which port her cement cargo is consigned, tomorrow.

The ship William P. Frye, which for the past few days has been discharging coal for the Western Fuel Company, completed her discharge today. After receiving a general overhauling at the United Engineering Works, the steam schooner Coaster, Captain Higgins, shifted across the stream. The yacht Martha and the launch Scout are at the Moore and Scott yards, receiving general overhauling.

The steam schooner South Coast, Captain Roberts, arrived here yesterday from Europe. After picking up a small freight cargo from wharf, the independent Steamship Company's carrier Hanaui shifted across to the San Francisco side today. The barkentine John Smith was shifted to the San Francisco side this morning by the Redstock tug Sea Fox.

SNOOK'S OPINION SENT TO COUNCIL

City Attorney Ben F. Woolner this morning returned to the city council the legal opinion filed by Attorney Snook & Church in behalf of James H. Pedgrift and Oakland material men and architects, in which Snook & Church held the ordinance creating position of city architect to be illegal. In returning the opinion to the city council Woolner pointed out that the matter had been decided in the Superior Court when Pedgrift attempted to have an injunction sustained on the basis of the Snook & Church opinion. Woolner's letter was placed on file.

HARRY PRESCOTT TELLS OF SLAYING WIFE'S AFFINITY

Accused Man Sobs on the Witness Stand
While Recounting Tragedy

Harry Prescott, accused slayer of Ralph Thompson, broke down on the witness stand this forenoon while testifying to circumstances that led up to the shooting in the bungalow at 1842 Adeline street on February 23. His voice faltered, his body shook with emotion and finally he gave way to sobs.

Attorney Frick had asked him to tell his story of the tragedy. He had reached the point where his wife and "a man" were seated in the parlor with the lights turned on. He was behind a portiere.

"What was said?" questioned Attorney Frick.

"The man asked if she had any beer in the house. She said 'no.' Then he said, 'I am tired, can I put my shoes under your bed tonight?' Then they got up from the couch and—

"What did you wife say?" interposed Frick.

"She said—then the witness could say no more for several moments. Finally he concluded, 'She said 'You can.'"

Leading up to the circumstances Prescott told how he had gone away to Tehuacan county to work a claim, how he had gone to the cabin of a neighbor named Brand and there saw a letter sent to Brand by Mrs. Brand, who was the owner of the Prescott residence in this city. The letter was said to have related that the writer did not like the goings on in the Prescott cottage, but that as long as the people were tenants she would not object. She said she did not approve of the entertainments held there evenings.

RETURNS TO INVESTIGATE. This letter brought Prescott back to the city, he said, and he sought to obtain evidence as to his wife's conduct. When he went away shortly after the first of the month they had had some words about getting along together. Upon his return to told the court that he had gone to his wife and told her that she did not act as she had acted for 11 years.

He stayed at the house for two nights he said, and then went to stay at the home of his mother in East Oakland, pending her decision as to what they should do in the future—live together or not.

Prescott continued: "I have been everything that is bad," she said when I upbraided her for her seeming indifference. I asked her what she meant by that and she said 'every thing.' Then I told her that I would forgive her anything. She said then that her 'Why did you make it?' I asked her, 'To test your love, she replied. I didn't think your love was that much for me."

"I then asked her if she wanted to go further—to get a divorce. She said that she did not."

"Then I told her I would go back to my mother and let her have a chance to think it over. I saw that she had changed toward me. Her tone did not sound the same as it had for 11 years. I told her."

NOT LIKE OLD SELF.

"It looks as if you were being prompted in this, it is not like yourself," I said to her and she replied that no one had told her to talk that way."

Several days later, Prescott said, he went to his wife and asked her if she wanted to get a divorce and again she told him that she did not.

"I left and said that I would be back Wednesday evening or she could come to my mother's and see me and tell me what she would do," said the witness.

"On Wednesday evening I went to the house thinking that I would either see her or make a search for letters that would throw some light on her attitude to me. I rang the bell. No one was at home. My key would not fit the lock because the lock had been changed after I went away. The house was dark and I climbed into an upper window by a ladder. I then saw a man sitting on the floor and turned on the light. I removed my shoes and put on a pair of moccasins."

SOUGHT LETTERS.

"I searched for letters but found none. So I turned out the light, thinking that I would wait until my wife and her sister returned and eavesdrop on them to see if they found anything bearing on my wife's change of feelings toward me. I was watching out of the window and before long I saw a light in the room. She was with a man. I thought that he would leave her at the door but instead he went inside. I listened to their conversation."

It was then that Thompson is said to have asked to remain all night.

"They sat down on the couch and pretty soon got up and went up stairs. I followed them to the bedroom. I could see that he had his coat off and his arms stretched out toward her. She was turning from the bathroom. I stepped into the room and said: 'I've got you, now.'"

"Then what did you do?" asked Attorney Frick.

FIRE SHOT. "Then I fired," replied the witness.

The defense called a number of character witnesses during the hour of the morning session. The defense introduced ten checks sent by Prescott to his wife amounting in all to $127, as evidence that he had continued to support her while he was away.

When Prescott completes his testimony he will be cross-examined by District Attorney Phil Carey for the prosecution.

EDITOR SLAIN BY RUSSIAN LABORER

Edward H. Rothrock Is Shot Down and Killed in Office of Newspaper.

SPOKANE, Wash., April 24.—Edward H. Rothrock, city editor of the Spokane Chronicle, was shot and killed at 10 o'clock this morning by a Russian laborer, who had been on the Titanic and then that he had been on the Carpathia and mumbled "that there had been too much printing" about the disaster. He could give no other reason for the deed.

Allik walked quietly into the Chronicle local room this morning and asked for the editor. Rothrock arose from his desk and walked toward the man. As he came within arms length, Allik drew a revolver and fired. The bullet struck Rothrock in the breast and he fell to the floor.

Before he could be seized by members of the Chronicle staff who rushed toward him Allik leaped over the prostrate body and fired another shot which struck the editor in the arm. He threw the revolver at the body as a half dozen reporters seized him.

MUTTERS "CARPATHIA."

He was dragged into the hall muttering "Carpathia" over and over, and refused to give any other answer to the frantic threats and questions addressed to him by his captors. Rothrock was lifted onto a copy-littered desk but did not recover consciousness, and died within five minutes.

The murderer later told the police that he was a Russian, 40 years of age, and had come to this country four years ago. He said he came to Spokane from Poland but seemed to be unable to tell how long he had been here.

Rothrock was a native of Kansas, but came to Spokane with his family when a boy. He was educated at local schools and at Stanford University, where he graduated with the class of 1898. He became associated with the Chronicle immediately after leaving college, serving as reporter, sporting editor and city editor. He was widely known throughout the northwest. He was 36 years of age, and leaves a wife, who formerly was a Miss Hadley of San Francisco. Mrs. Rothrock is seriously ill, but was told of her husband's death.

CHARITY INSTITUTION WILL BUILD NEW HOME

Plans will probably be filed with the city building department this week for the erection of a building in East Oakland to be devoted to the use of the Little Sisters of the Poor, a charitable institution of this city. The plans are now being completed by a San Francisco architect who has notified the department that they will be sent to Oakland within a few days.

Little Sisters of the Poor have been in existence for some time, and are well known as a charity organization. A number of Piedmont women are interested in the work of the society. The site for a new building will be on East 14th street.

Colonel Roosevelt and the Trusts.

Colonel Roosevelt's objection to the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law deserves examination. He made no attempt to enforce it while he was President and naturally feels that it is a reflection on his conduct to enforce it now. But that is not the point. He says it disturbs business without beneficial result. The phrase sounds familiar. However, it has not been accepted as a valid excuse for suspending an act of Congress.

The Colonel says the enforcement of the law is a farce because the judgments requiring the Standard Oil and Tobacco trusts to dissolve have not depressed the market value of stocks in the constituent companies of those corporations.

The Sherman law was not enacted to depress the price of stocks or depreciate the value of property. Its object was to prevent the creation of artificial monopolies by the federation of corporations under the trust system. Prosecutions were instituted under the law to break up combines formed to control output and prices, to stop the process of forcing competitors to sell out or join the combination; to put under legal ban the methods whereby monopolies were being created by mobilizing industrial plants and the capital in them. It is not the fault of the law nor the efforts of the President to enforce it if results have not answered expectations. It is no proof that the law is unwise or ineffective that prosecutions have failed in some instances and that the evils of monopoly survive trust disorganization in others. The point is, the law makes trust manipulation dangerous and more difficult. Until a more effective method of regulating the trusts and curbing their exactions has been found it would be folly to repeal the Sherman act or allow it to fall into innocuous desuetude.

The Sherman law is both a civil and a criminal statute. The beef barons were prosecuted criminally, but they were acquitted by a jury. Nevertheless, the prosecution has made them less bold in their operations and less open in their violations of the law. It is not surprising that the beef packers should agree with Colonel Roosevelt that such prosecutions as they have recently undergone "disturb business without beneficial result," and that they should be in favor of repealing the law and suspending its operation. Naturally, they are sore at the President for having them prosecuted and take sides with the Colonel.

But do the American people want the Sherman act repealed or suspended? Colonel Roosevelt has denounced the law as a farce and the President's efforts to enforce it as mischievous and abortive. When he was President he did not enforce it; it is fair, therefore, to presume that he would refuse to enforce it if again elected to the presidency. He talks against "Big Business," but if he will do nothing to bring it under subjection to the law his denunciation is but mere sound and fury, signifying nothing. Meanwhile the trusts are supporting him for President. And as the candidate of the trusts he is denouncing Taft as their friend. He did precisely the same thing when Alton G. Parker was running against him in 1904. He accused Parker of being the candidate of the trusts, but the trusts were supporting Roosevelt and putting up the money to finance his campaign. Can he make the same dodge win twice?

One argument that was recently of much popularity, to the effect that women did not want the ballot and so should not be given it, seems to have fallen into innocuous desuetude in this county. Something like 26,000 women have indicated their desire to vote by putting their names on the register.

Bad for Americans in Mexico.

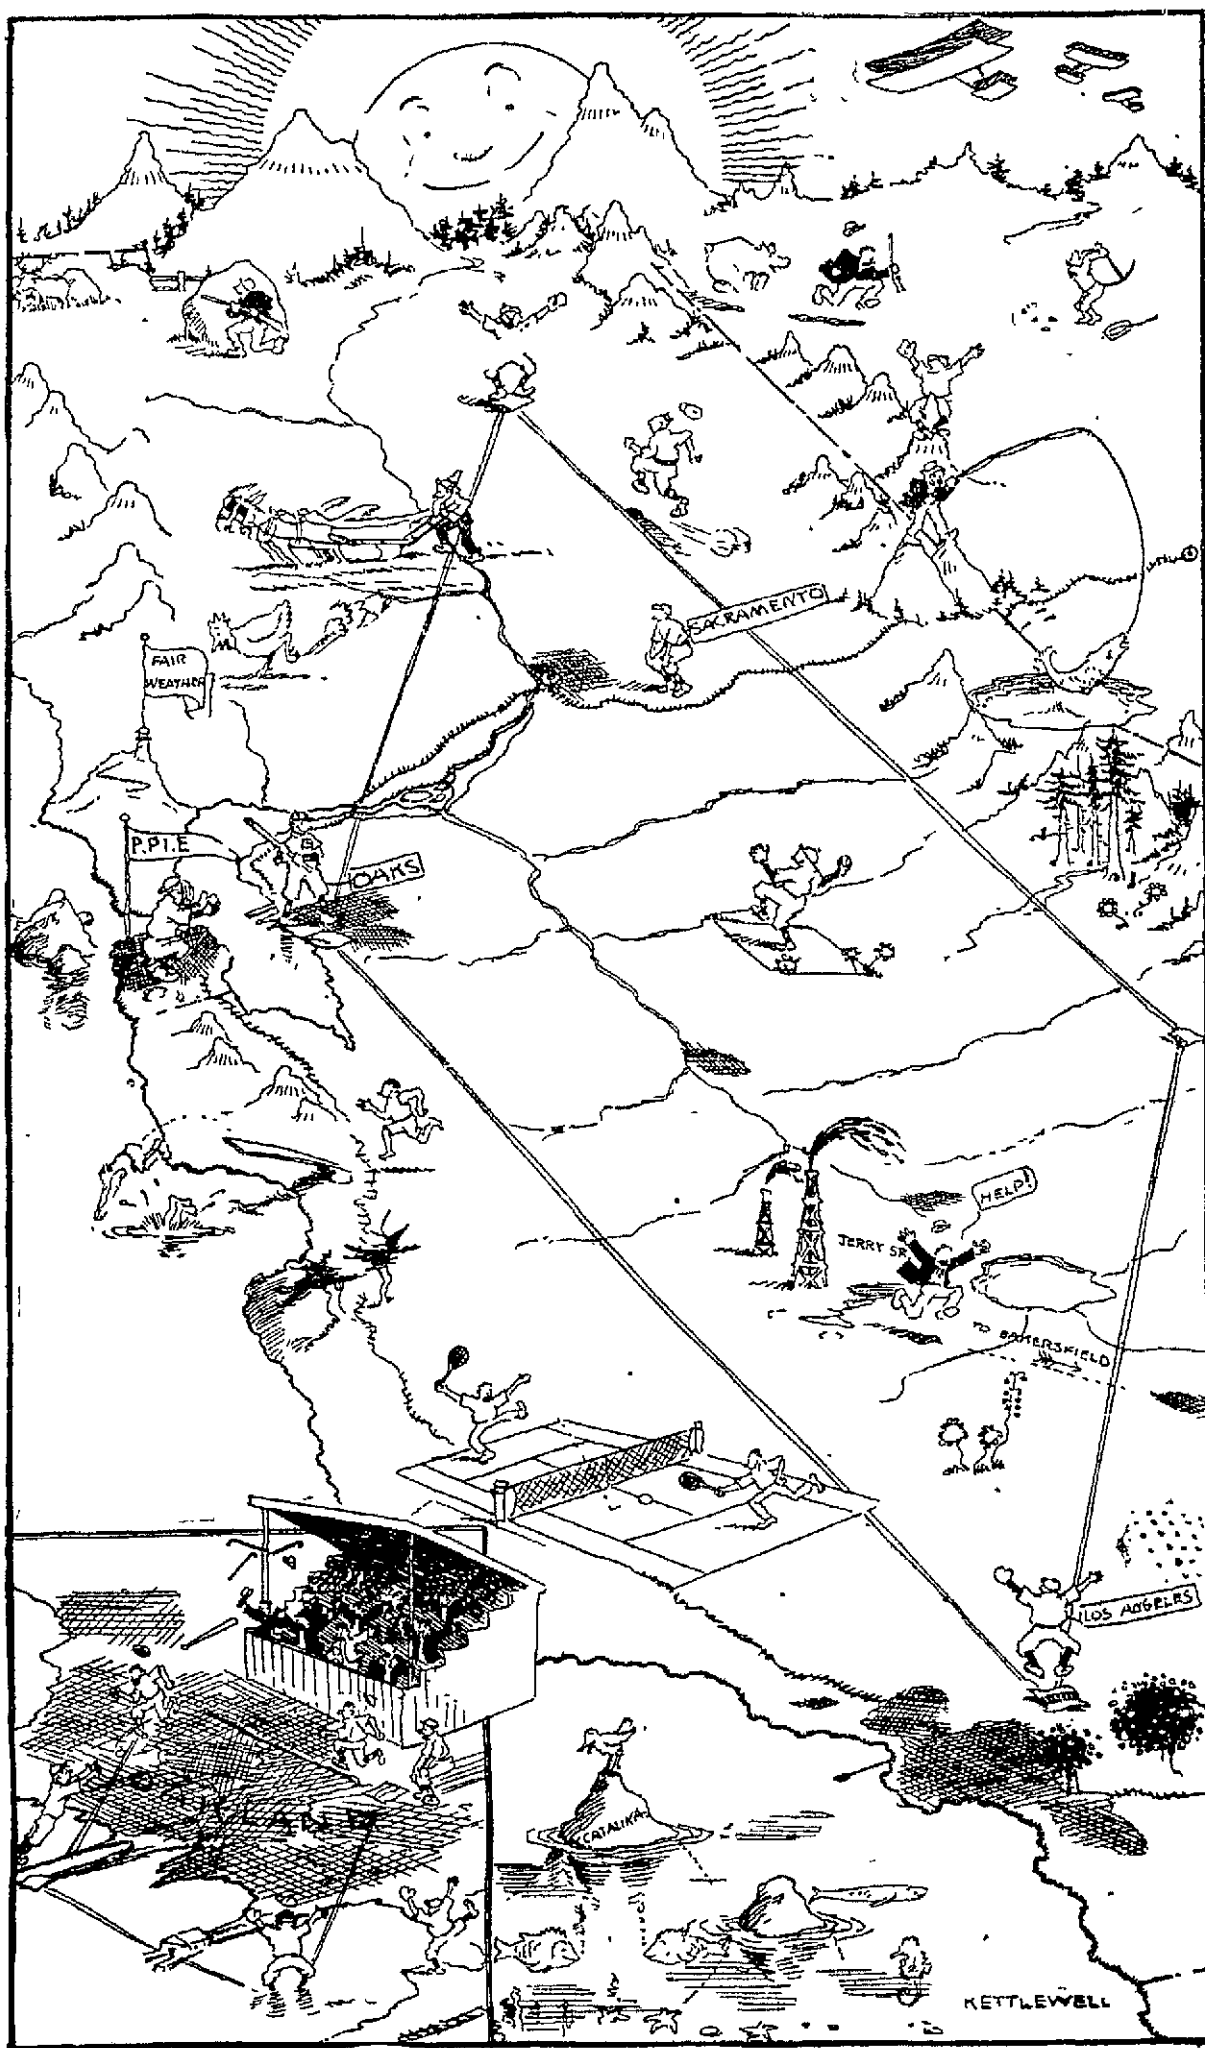

Madero's government has disclaimed all responsibility for outrages on American citizens committed by the insurgents. Recently the Mexican minister of state flippantly informed Assistant Secretary of State Wilson that Americans in Mexico would have to look out for themselves, and that his government would not be responsible for damages to person and property inflicted by the insurgents. That is, the Mexican government denies its treaty obligations. It is unable to protect foreigners resident in Mexico, and yet protests against the insurgents being granted rights of belligerency. As it has not recognized the insurgents as belligerents our government has no recourse but to appeal to the Madero government. That appeal has been met with an insulting denial of responsibility. By this denial the United States is placed in a dilemma. Orozco is demanding that rights of belligerency be accorded the insurgents, and has refused to give any guaranty that the lives and property of American citizens in the zone under his control will be protected unless his demand is complied with. Because he is not a belligerent Orozco cannot be held to account. To whom is the United States to look for redress of the wrongs American citizens have suffered, since protection and redress are denied by both factions? It would seem that the Madero government is desirous that the United States should interfere, but wishes the interference to take the appearance of an invasion of Mexico despite the protest of the recognized government.

It is to be hoped that General Frederick Funston will be promoted to the rank of Major General, now that a vacancy has been created by the death of General Grant. He is the ranking Brigadier General, and has a fine record as a field officer. Funston is not a West Pointer, but he has proved himself a gallant and able soldier, and that is what really counts. As Funston has proved his capacity, and stands in the line of promotion he should be given the rank of Major General in regular order. Regular order should be followed in military promotions unless there are cogent reasons for departing from it. In this instance there are no such reasons. The objection that Funston did not go to school at West Point is puerile. He was educated in the stern school of experience—in the field, and he is a credit to his training.

Even Nebraska seems to have gone back on the Peerless One. Notwithstanding Bryan's endorsement of Woodrow Wilson, Champ Clark won the primary election in Bryan's own State. Hiram ran almost even with Wilson, although the Commencer bombarded him fiercely during the campaign.

It is stated that none of the big transatlantic liners are equipped with searchlights. This seems like a singular oversight. There are many reasons why every large passenger ship should carry one, and none why she should not—except the one of expense. Had the Titanic's course been illuminated in all probability the iceberg would have been sighted in time to avert the collision. We presume searchlights will be provided henceforth and that a closer lookout will be kept when crossing the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, especially after warning has been given of the presence of ice floes.

An Aviator's Eye-View of California

William T. Stead.

It is singular that none of the survivors of the Titanic had anything to say about one of the most distinguished men who went down with the wreck, William T. Stead, whose fame as a journalist extends to wherever the English language is spoken. Nobody seems to have taken note of him in the confusion on board the Titanic. How he bore himself—although one is entirely justified in imagining that he bore himself like a man—is left to conjecture.

The survivors have much to say about what this man and that man said and did in that dread hour, but nobody seems to have seen or heard anything of Stead—at least he appears to have been unnoticed. Apparently none of the officers or passengers took any interest in a mere writer.

Yet William T. Stead has helped make history during the past thirty years. A quarter of a century ago he was editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, and made a great stir by exposing the corruption in the upper circles of London society. He was sent to prison for libel, but continued to edit the Gazette from his cell and forced the government to break up the infamous gathering places of the aristocratic degenerates. Later he founded the Review of Reviews and achieved a high reputation as a free lance correspondent of various newspapers on both sides of the Atlantic.

All his life he was a crusader, ardent, fearless and optimistic, against wrongs and abuses. His lance was in rest continually to redress some popular grievance or overthrow some social injustice.

Stead was a useful man—not always right, but striving always to aid the right and to lift the burden of oppression and wrong from the shoulders of the poor and the helpless.

His death is a great loss. It is a pity he did not survive to write the story of the Titanic's wreck. He was just the man for the task; his clear, forcible, picturesque style and great descriptive powers qualifying him to picture the scene with fidelity yet graphic intensity.

Each of the Titanic's lifeboats was capable of carrying sixty-five persons, according to the ship's fourth officer. If the sixteen boats had been filled to their capacity they would have carried 1040 persons away from the sinking steamer instead of a little more than half that number. It is stated by the survivors that the first boats that put off from the ship were not more than half loaded—in some cases with women and children almost exclusively, not enough men being in them to handle the oars; only one of the boats had a lantern. The life rafts proved to be useless, and one of the four collapsible boats capsized while being launched, dumping the occupants in the icy waters. There seems to have been bungling all around, and, in consequence, an unnecessary sacrifice of life.

CLEON AND I

Cleon hath four humours, Me'er a one have I,
Cleon fares to foreign scenes,
Here at home stay I.
Cleon lives where servants hurry
And the walls are high;
Cleon oft has cause to worry,
So, alas, have I.
Twenty suites of clothes has he,
Only one have I;
He makes money easily,
By hard working I;
In his glass the old wine bubbles;
Cleon likes it "dry";
Cleon frequently has troubles,
Ah, well, so do I.
Cleon is a millionaire,
I work, wet or dry;
Cleon's losing all his hair,
Little hair have I.
Cleon oft has indigestion,
So, indeed, have I;
What's the difference? you question
This is my reply:
Cleon's daughter has eloped
And his son flies high,
Hopes that Cleon fondly hoped
Have been doomed to die;
Cleon sits alone at night,
In his breast a sigh.
My kids play at home and fight—
Six of them have I.

LAST OF A RACE

Because it equals a comparison between the conditions which he witnessed in his closing years and those which he saw in his early prime, the death of Crazy Snake, the aged Creek chief, will be of interest to the country. If he himself knew his exact age he never told it to anybody, but he was active as a fighter long before the opening of the Civil War and his own tribe being one of the five "Big Five" who were located in the Indian Territory, now the State of Oklahoma, three-fourths of a century ago, but civilization, or the thin veneer of decorum superimposed over savagery which succeeded under that name in the Old Indian Territory, had no attractions for Crazy Snake. Rather was he, so far as circumstances permitted, a spiritual descendant of Weatherford, Osceola, and the rest of the fighters produced by the great Muskogean confederation of Georgia, Florida and Alabama of a century ago and later.

When, in 1905, Crazy Snake raised his little rebellion against the acceptance by his tribe of the conditions drawn up by the white man for land allotment and government, under white man's law, he found that the situation had changed since the days when he could go on the warpath with a powerful band behind him whenever the whim seized him. His rising attracted comparatively few of his tribe. For a few weeks he kept the field, with some of the Oklahoma militia on his track, and then his band gradually dispersed. His tribe had lost its old "fighting edge," because there was no longer excuse or incentive to fight. Railroads were running through their region. The small band of implacables to which he belonged were only a little oasis of savagery in a vast sea of civilization. His tribe had lost the nomadic habit the frontier had vanished, the buffalo was extinct, and great commonwealths confronted them whichever way they turned.

In Crazy Snake's own State of Oklahoma, which was making its advent just as the old Creek reactionary was starting on his last war foray, are 1,700,000 people. Among them there are 117,000 Indians, all except 15,000 or 16,000 of which belonged to the five clans—Cherokees, Choctaws, Chickasaws, Creeks and Seminoles—which he tried to array against the new order. Indians are engaged in all the pursuits of the white man. Among them are merchants, farmers, bankers, miners, stock raisers and lawyers. Three of them—Senator Curtis of Kansas and Senator Owen and Representative Carter of Oklahoma—are in Congress, and assist in making laws for white men and red. The day of King Philip, Pontiac, Tecumseh and Black Hawk had passed when Crazy Snake started on his last raid, and even Red Cloud and Sitting Bull had been knocked obsolete.

SILENT DRAMA

Moving picture shows will not much longer come under this title, because the talking machine and the moving picture projector will soon be synchronized, and the audience will hear the words of the play as their eyes follow its action on the screen. In an interesting article in the Review of Reviews Robert Grau prophesies a great impetus to the legitimate drama through the moving picture show's influence in inspiring a desire for the theater in the minds of a class of persons not hitherto given to theater-going.

In support of this statement he cites the increasing number of successful stock companies in small cities, and the increase of the moving picture enterprise from an entertainment of several brief pantomime sketches to the production of a connected play requiring an hour or more to show.

There are some 30 moving picture studios in America, and they supply 250,000,000 feet of film annually to more than 17,000 theaters. More than one film production has cost $25,000, several have cost $75,000. One is known to have cost $800,000; it represents a spectacle from the Odyssey, and is the work of an Italian firm. This play is from the pen of Jules Lemaitre, a French academician, and is entitled "The Return of Ulysses." More than two thousand persons appear in these films.

Mr. Grau foresees a time when for a dime anyone may enjoy opera, tragedy, comedy, concert, or whatever form of stage production you will, presented with perfect fidelity of form and sound, by mechanical means alone. The motion picture seems to have scarcely more than begun its work for civilization.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

IS YOUR CHILD'S TONGUE COATED?

If Cross, Feverish or Stomach Sour, It Means Waste-Clogged Bowels.

Children dearly love to take delicious "Syrup of Figs" and nothing else cleans and regulates their tender little stomachs, liver and 30 feet of bowels so promptly and thoroughly. Children get bilious and constipated just like grown-ups. Then they get sick the tongue is coated, stomach sour, breath bad, they don't eat or rest well, they become feverish, cross, irritable and don't want to play. Listen, mothers, for your child's sake, don't force the little one to swallow nauseating castor oil, violent cathartics or harsh irritants like Epsom salts. A teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs will have your child smiling and happy again in just a few hours. Syrup of Figs will gently clean, sweeten and regulate the stomach, make the liver active and move on and out of the bowels all the constipated matter, the sour bile, the foul, clogged-up waste and poisons, without causing cramps or griping.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging or injuring your children. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it cannot be harmful. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna" prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

WELCOME GIVEN BISHOP OLDHAM

Missionary From India Tells of Growing Christianity in Vast Empire.

"God bless California. She knows her business. She lets the women vote," cried Bishop W. F. Oldham, last night in his address at the Eighth Avenue Methodist church before a large audience composed of Methodist preachers, their wives and friends, who had gathered to give to the Bishop and his wife a welcome to America after four years of strenuous work in the East in the interest of Christianity.

Bishop Oldham is a striking figure. He is a native of India, born of British parentage, and did not see America until he was 17 years of age, when he was sent here to be educated. The reception was presided over by the Rev. H. J. Winsor, pastor of the Eighth Avenue church. Addresses were made by Dr. George W. White, Dr. S. D. Hutschmiller, Dr. F. D. Board and Mrs. Smyth. Bishop Oldham spoke more particularly with reference to his work in the Malay peninsula. Twenty-seven years ago he was sent to Singapore to open a school. He was without funds and compelled to make the work self-supporting from the start. Now there are in that island empire some seventy millions of a mixed population, made up from crossing the natives with the overflow population from the teeming millions from India and China. He said that this was the only country in the world that welcomed the Chinaman to citizenship. As a result of education outside of China many Chinese returned to China to aid in the recent revolution. Many of these coming from Malacca. Since he went there schools have multiplied in Singapore and the surrounding country until now there are eight Americans teaching in Java, and schools are being conducted in hundreds of places throughout the islands. At first his work was among the boys, but "you can't row a boat with one oar. In our work we found that we must call in the women to help." It was at this juncture he paid a high tribute to California for inviting the women to share in the government. The women of the W. F. M. society took advantage of the occasion to receive an offering in money for the education of poor girls where the bishop and his wife are living. Mrs. Oldham was introduced and spoke briefly. The Bishop will go to San Francisco for a meeting in Grace Methodist church of the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

ENGAGEMENT IS TOLD IN NOVEL WAY AT PARTY

MISS CHRISTINE TURNER.

Society received another surprise today when Miss Christine Turner announced her engagement to Lewis M. Foulke at a card party given for Miss Hazel Layman and Miss Edith Porter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Turner in Alameda.

Forty well-known society girls of the bay cities were present at today's affair, when the secret was told by means of dainty boxes at each card table which, when opened, disclosed a corsage bouquet for each guest, made of bridesmaid roses, to the stems of which were attached the cards of Mr. Foulke and the young hostess.

Miss Turner has a host of friends here and possesses a delightful personality. Foulke is a graduate of the University of California and his home is in Northern California.

No wedding date has been set as yet, and meanwhile the bride will be given a round of entertainments.

The association, through the officers, Miss Suzanne McEwen, president, Miss Jennie M. Blair, first vice president, Miss Mary Bates, corresponding secretary, Mrs. George E. Cut flowers of any description are desired to make the day a success, and the Southern Pacific and Wells Fargo companies will furnish the transportation of boxes to the headquarters of the association free of charge.

SLAYER OF POLICEMAN AGAIN FOUND GUILTY

SEATTLE, Wash., April 24.—Axel Nist, accused of killing Policeman Judson P. Davis in a battle between two policemen and two highwaymen, the night of February 23, 1911, was found guilty of murder in the second degree by a jury in the Superior court last night.

This is the second time Nist has been convicted, the supreme court having set aside the first verdict.

Nist's defense was that he did not fire a shot, but Mrs. Kittie Hamlin testified that she saw Nist and Policeman J. C. Smith exchange shots after Patrolman Davis and John Ford, Nist's companion, had fallen to the ground mortally wounded.

BAN ON OYSTERS.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 24.—The local board of health has voted to prohibit the sale of oysters and clams taken from within the confines of New Haven harbor. Recent tests of the water showed the presence of typhoid fever germs. Oyster men threaten to sue the city when the order goes into effect.

Clean pots and pans with GOLD DUST

Germs of decay accumulate on oft-used pots and pans, and ordinary soap and water only cleans off the surface.

Gold Dust does the work—and does it right. It digs deep after germs, cleans like a new whistle and leaves your pots and pans as bright as the day they were new—and sanitarily safe.

Gold Dust does this work in just half the time required by soap or any other cleanser. Does it better, too.

Gold Dust cleans everything like magic.

Do not use harsh soap, soda, ammonia or kerosene. Use GOLD DUST. GOLD DUST has all desirable cleaning qualities in a perfectly harmless and lasting form.

CREEK ROUTE WILL CARRY MOTOR CARS

After May 1 No More Autos on Broad Gauge; Half Hour Service.

Information of considerable importance to owners of automobiles was made public in the offices of the Southern Pacific yesterday when it was announced that a thirty-minute schedule of the Oakland Harbor Route ferry boats would go into effect on the first of May. This service is intended specifically for automobile traffic, and when this new order goes into effect the Oakland pier ferry boats will cease handling automobiles.

The first Oakland Harbor Route boat will depart from this side of the bay at 6 o'clock every morning, and there will be a boat every half hour thereafter up to and including 9 o'clock in the evening. From the Oakland side of the bay the first boat will leave at 5:15 in the morning, and a regular half hour schedule will be maintained up to and including 8:45 in the evening.

The same schedule will be maintained on Sundays, except that the last Harbor Route ferry will leave this side at 10 o'clock in the evening, and the Oakland side at 9:45 in the evening, an extra service of an hour from each side.

BARRED ON OTHERS.
No automobiles of any kind, including electric, and no motorcycles will be handled on the Oakland Pier ferry boats until after the Harbor Route boats have discontinued their trips for the day, after which the present regulations allowing a maximum of four gasoline cars on each boat will be observed in addition to which as many electric machines and as many motorcycles as may be accommodated will be accepted. Under this provision such machines may be accepted within the aforementioned restrictions commencing with Oakland Pier ferry steamer leaving this side at 9:20 p. m. on week days and 10:30 p. m. on Sundays, and the Oakland Pier at 8:45 p. m. on week days and 10:05 p. m. on Sundays.

PRECAUTION IS REASON.
One of the principal reasons for the refusal to permit the carrying of automobiles on the Oakland Pier ferries after May 1, is that it is a matter of precaution. Only recently an automobile being carried on a passenger ferry boat between Brooklyn and New York, exploded and for a time the crew of the vessel had a terrific fight in keeping the flames from the machine from spreading to the boat. A fair sized panic was created on the boat and the officers and crew had considerable trouble in quieting the passengers many women and children being aboard. The Oakland Harbor route boats carry few passengers and such an accident on one of these boats would cause little danger to life, as it would on one of the Oakland Pier ferries.

The Southern Pacific now has three ferry boats on the Oakland Harbor route and the half hourly service will undoubtedly be pronounced a great accommodation to autoists who take their machines across the bay.

The Oakland Harbor Route ferry slip on this side of the bay is located at the south end of the Ferry building while the Oakland slip is at the foot of Broadway.

Finally, the workmen, who had come from Waukegan, began to throw bricks and bottles to keep back the crowd. Mr. Miller, the acting mayor, was sent for, and he averted what appeared to be a budding riot. The officials of the city decided to hold a special service to pray for the reformation of all tobacco users.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 24.—The Turkish Government has replied to the offer of mediation by the United States in the hostilities with Italy by thanking them and accepting their offer as in the best interests of both belligerents. POLO PLAYERS VICTIMS OF PECULIAR ACCIDENTS

HILLSBORO, April 24.—Thomas A. Driscoll and Francis J. Carolan clubmen and polo players, are the victims of peculiar accidents. Both men are laid up as the result of being hit on the knee with polo balls. The accidents happened in a practice game about two weeks ago, but it was not until recently that they became serious.

Driscoll has been confined to his bed for several days. He had the use of his leg for some time after the accident. Last week it began to trouble him, and since then he has been under a doctor's care. Carolan is hobbling around on crutches, and his accident made him delay starting for Europe, where he will play polo this summer.

NATIVE SONS ON EXCURSION

Delegates to the Fresno Grand Parlor Spend Day in Pleasure Seeking.

FRESNO, April 24.—All the Native Sons Grand Parlor visitors will spend today in an excursion going from here to Selma, where there will be a local entertainment, then back by way of Sanger. There will be a short business session this evening.

With the awarding of the Admission Day celebration for next September to Stockton, the big night of the Native Sons convention for this year is over. The San Jose people put up a gallant fight yesterday afternoon but the odds were too much against them. The Stockton boosters raised the cry that San Jose was trying to monopolize the celebration of Admission Day and that the order should give other cities a chance.

As today is to be an all-day round of pleasure, the nomination of officers for the ensuing year was made yesterday afternoon as follows:

Grand president C. E. Jarvis Sutter Creek grand first vice-president Thomas Monahan, San Jose, grand second vice-president Louis H. Mooser, San Francisco grand third vice-president, John F. Davis San Francisco secretary, Fred H. Jung San Francisco, treasurer, John D. McDougall, San Francisco marshal, W. O'Connor, Stockton, inside sentinel, A. S. Groth, San Francisco, for the outside sentinel—C. P. Mosconi, Half Moon, William D. Bliss, Oakland, Edward Cahill, Palo Alto, for the office of grand trustee (seven to be chosen), Percy V. Long, San Francisco Judge T. J. Lannon, San Rafael, W. L. Tragar, Los Angeles, Ted Atwood, Placer, Edmund Bruck, St. Helena, George F. Welsh, San Francisco, Judge Ernest Seawell, Santa Rosa, Joe V. Snyder Nevada City, J. J. McElroy, Oakland, William P. Toomey, Fresno, J. M. Morrissey, Marysville, Frank Moore, Chico, and W. F. Caulder, San Francisco. The only contested offices will be decided upon at the election Thursday morning.

1915 GRAND PARLOR.

Among the important actions taken yesterday were the adoption of resolutions giving the grand parlor session of 1915 to San Francisco. The resolutions sent to committee and will also doubtless be passed, giving the admission day celebration of 1915 also to San Francisco. A resolution adopting the initiative and referendum on legislation of the order was lost. A resolution for the abolition of sick benefits was defeated.

A resolution calling upon the grand parlor to send a representative to Washington to advocate more liberal appropriations for the Yosemite valley was sent to committee by the order. The resolutions urge that due preparation should be made at the Yosemite for visitors in 1915.

D. Q. Troy, historiographer of the order, urged in a report the collection of books and other relics of an historical nature, in co-operation with the state historian.

ROOSEVELT COMMITTEE STATEMENT DENIED

ALBANY, N. Y., April 24.—William Barnes, Jr., the chairman of the Republican State Committee, last night issued the following statement regarding the attitude of New York State's delegates to the Republican National Convention.

"A statement by the Roosevelt Committee that any person representing any number of the delegates from the State of New York had approached anyone connected with the Roosevelt campaign to make a dicker must be a falsehood because there is no one who could speak authoritatively for these delegates. They are controlled by no one but no far as I have been informed by them, eighty-three are unalterably opposed to the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt and favor President Taft."

WELL KNOWN LAWYER CURED OF ECZEMA

By Cuticura Remedies Which He Recommends for Skin Troubles.

Greenville, Ohio.—"While attending school at Lebanon, Ohio, in 1892, there was a small-pox scare, and we were all vaccinated. Presumably from impure virus used, I became afflicted with boils, which lasted for about two years, when the affliction assumed the form of eczema on my face, the lower part of my face being inflamed most of the time. There would be water-blisters that would open, and wherever the water would touch it would burn, and cause another one to rise. After the blister would open, the place would scab over, and would burn and itch so as to be almost unbearable at times. In this way the sores would spread from one place to another, back and forth over the whole of my upper lip and chin, and at times the whole lower part of my face would be a solid sore. This condition continued for four or five years, without getting any better, and in fact got worse all the time, so much so that my wife became alarmed lest it prove fatal. Finally I decided to try Cuticura Remedies, which I did, taking the Cuticura Ointment internally, applying the Cuticura Soap for washing. In a very short time I began to notice improvement, and within less than a year I was well again, and have not had a recurrence of the trouble since, which is over twenty years. I have recommended Cuticura Remedies to others ever since, and have great faith in them as remedies for skin diseases." (Signed) A. C. Brandon, Attorney-at-Law, January 17, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by dealers everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 25-p. book on skin and scalp treatment. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faithful men should share with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

NEW ROYAL ENGLISH OAK SET OUT IN CENTRAL PARK

NEW YORK, April 24.—A royal English oak tree has been set out in Central Park as the official successor of the one planted by the late King Edward VII when he visited the United States in 1903.

The king's tree died in 1903, after a twenty years attempt by the park authorities to nurse it out of persistent ill health. The new tree is a perfect specimen about fifteen years old and destined to become one of the largest and most perfectly formed trees in the park.

Its location is within a stone's throw of a white oak set out by Washington Irving.

AUTOS TO BE BARRED ON OAKLAND PIER FERRIES

Southern Pacific Announces New Creek Route Schedule for Drivers

By J. A. HOULIHAN.

After many months of patient waiting, motorists of both sides of the bay will await with a sigh of relief the new half hour schedule for ferry boats effective May 1st. On that same date the rule permitting the carrying of four automobiles on the broad gauge boats will be declared null and void and automobilists desiring to cross the bay whether from this side to San Francisco, or vice versa, will have use of the boats leaving each side twice an hour via the Creek Route. This move which has been contemplated for some time by the Southern Pacific awaited only the completion of the boat Thoroughfare to become a reality.

As many automobiles carried as the boats will hold is the only limit under the new ruling, and in this respect a great relief from the present unsatisfactory way of handling motor cars is assured. The move on the part of the railroad has some unpleasant features, however, it remedies former intolerable conditions.

Because of the heavy traffic of teams on Creek Route system, the motor cars will be carried, will not be a much sought place by automobilists. Conditions sanitary, are disagreeable. In spite of these facts the new schedule is more satisfactory than the one now in service.

The first boat for San Francisco will leave this city at 6:15 a. m. and service will be in effect every half hour thereafter. The last boat for San Francisco will leave this city at 6 a. m. and the last one at 9 p. m. After this time autos will be carried on the regular broad gauge ferries. On Sunday the last boat for Oakland will leave this city at the foot of Broadway at 9:45 p. m., while the latest one from the other side of the bay will start at 10:00 p. m.

No automobiles, motorcycles or electric vehicles will be accommodated on the Broad Gauge boats while the other system is in service. When they are carried, which will be after the Creek Route boats have sailed, the old regulations of four machines on one boat will be enforced.

ENTER ACCESSORY BUSINESS BIG
Intending to become one of the largest automobile accessory concerns in the west, the Jones Auto Co. have laid plans for a campaign that will eventually carry their name into the home of every owner from San Diego to Vancouver. A 150-page catalogue, complete in every nature, and listing all standard motor necessities and a wide variety of novelties, has just been sent out to owners of automobiles. The book is excellently arranged and one of the best we have seen. Responsible for its publication is W. P. Jones, president of the company.

Outlining briefly the future plans he intends carrying out, Mr. Jones stated, "We have discontinued the sale of automobiles entirely and from this time on will confine our sole attention to the sale of automobile accessories. By handling it on a jobbing as well as on a retail scale we can best care for the garage and dealer business. For some time past this end of the business has had to be neglected to a certain extent even though it has grown beyond our fondest hopes. Mr. Lundquist, who is with me, and who is one of the most conversant men with this line, will devote most of his time in visiting the garage trade and supplying their wants."

MANY TO GO TO RACES.

The special train leaving San Francisco on the night of May 2nd, will carry out of that city the largest automobile delegation which has ever left it in a body. Santa Monica is the objective point. Beyond our front hopes, Mr. Lundquist, who is with me, and who is one of the most conversant men with this line, will devote most of his time in visiting the garage trade and supplying their wants."

The Road race, now a historic annual affair, will be held and the interest taken in it by dealers around the bay is of the keenest nature. And well it should be. Local and San Francisco will have an important role in the various events. Earl Cooper, a favorite throughout the state, will pilot a Stutz, Earl De Vore, one of the small Buicks, Louis Niblack the Buick 40, Joe Nikrent, Casco and Frank Free a Vella. Then there are the big boys known everywhere motor races are held. Barney Oldfield, Bruce Brown, Caleb Bragg, De Palma, Dingley, Louis Disbrow, Tuckett and scores of others.

J. J. Doyle who is in charge of the train accommodations, advises that he already has more than sixty names on his list of intending excursionists.

OAKLANDER'S PLAY SCORES SUCCESS

"The Bigamist," by Wm. A. Curtis, Has Premiere in San Jose.

"The Bigamist," a three-act comedy of multi-matrimony, written by William A. Curtis, a well-known newspaper man of this city, was given its premiere production at the Jose Theatre in San Jose Monday evening by Ed Redmond and the Redmond stock company. The piece scored heavily and Manager J. W. Jackson of To-Liberty Theatre leaves during the week to look it over with the idea of arranging a local production of it.

"The Bigamist" is a very good show and one that for rapidness of lines and for bringing out the right things to the surface at the right time will rank well with any of the work that the Redmond company put on this season," wrote Earl Morris in reviewing the play for a San Jose paper.

"It shows the result of hard work and a keen insight into human nature. It is, in all, a bright little comedy with just enough seriousness to balance."

"The first act of the production last evening was decidedly the best of the three and the second, while containing more serious work, dragged in parts and showed the effects of having been cut and jammed. There is not an uninteresting minute in the final act until the curtain. Then the action seemed to fall flat. This was undoubtedly due to the heaviness of the lines and the 'business.' When this is whipped into shape the piece will make an entirely presentable and clear entertainment."

AGED WOMAN TAKES LIFE BY INHALING GAS

Mrs. Prinz had been misled by neighbors and the odor of gas having been detected, the door was smashed in by Policeman McCullough. The woman was found in the kitchen dead with the gas flowing freely from a stove near by. She had stuffed an apron in the cracks of the door.

REBUKES THOUGHTLESS CROWD AT CONCERT

Editor THE TRIBUNE: Will you allow me to correct a statement, made in your paper this evening, in reference to the band playing in Lakeside Park last Sunday, when they played the funeral march, at the intermission, there was not one person got up and bared their heads, and the clumps of people actually applauded, thinking it an "extra." No wonder Steinhardt, the bandmaster, turned from the stand with a look of disgust on his face; he had sense enough not to acknowledge the applause.

These are the facts; as I was present at the time.

Yours respectfully,
ROBERT A. GREGORY.

2210 Twenty-third avenue, Oakland.

ENGINEER IS GETTING DATA ON BAY TIDES

For the purpose of securing data relative to the difference in the tides in the vicinity of the Standard Oil works and the local waterfront on San Pablo bay and the tides on the southern shore of the city, Engineer W. S. Farley is establishing tide gauges in both these sections and commencing a systematic reading of the tides, for the purpose of determining the differences in the heights of the tides at all times of the day. The data thus secured he will use in connection with the plans for the extension and improvement of the present main sewer draining the city.

LAST RITES HELD FOR CAPT. TAYLOR

Clubmen Are Pallbearers at the Funeral of Late Confederate Veteran.

The funeral of the late Captain Charles Fletcher Taylor, a retired capitalist, well known clubman and confederate veteran, took place this morning at 10:30 o'clock from undertaking parlors at 670 Fourteenth street, Rev. George C. Gilden of St. Andrew's Episcopal church officiated at the services. The remains were cremated and will be laid to rest beside those of his wife in Odd Fellows' cemetery, San Francisco. Captain Taylor was 70 years old and about 20 years ago he came to California. He was a member of the Cosmos club of San Francisco and of the Denver lodge of Odd Fellows.

At the outbreak of the civil war Taylor enlisted under the command of General Quantrell and fought for the cause of the south. During his period of service with the famous guerrilla chief Captain Taylor lost an arm in conflict. He was shot twice. Because of his activities the federal government posted a price of $10,000 on the life of Taylor. Once he was captured and made his escape by vanquishing his guards single handed.

At the close of the war Captain Taylor went to Missouri and later to Nebraska. He was a native of the former state, and during his later years was connected with the operation of stage lines there. He was engaged in similar business in Humboldt county, California.

RUNAWAY FREIGHT HITS STREET CAR

Mills' College Students Are Shaken Up; One Passenger Seriously Hurt.

A number of people are today nursing more or less painful injuries as the result of a collision late yesterday afternoon between a Leona Heights street car and a runaway gravel "gondola" of the Southern Pacific company, near what is known as Rose-avenue cut.

The only one seriously injured is Mrs. Jennie Hosso, age 53, of 5340 Maple avenue, whose right side is said to be paralyzed and who had several ribs broken.

The others are: Miss Julia Boyd, of Mills College, sprained shoulder; Miss Ida May Bradley, of Mills College, sprained ankle; Miss Eliza Roman, of Mills College, sprained ankle; Mary Callosa, of 5138 Maple avenue, bruised left hip; Professor C. T. Wright, of Mills College, hands cut by flying glass; Charles H. Duval, head of Seulah Home, injuries to right side and left hip.

Inquiry this morning elicited the fact that, excepting Mrs. Hosso and Miss Bradley, the injuries were not sufficient to keep those in the accident from being about their duties today.

The gravel car was being loaded at the ore chutes at the end of the Leona Heights line, when the brakes slipped and it dashed down the incline gathering speed and striking the street car at the apex of the grade on the Ross avenue cut.

R. F. Ross was conductor of the passenger car and H. Rasmussen was at the controller and made an unsuccessful effort to prevent the accident by applying the air brakes. They stuck to their posts.

Miss Elizabeth Wilcox and Miss Catherine R. Smith, both of Mills College, were also passengers on the car but escaped unhurt.

J. P. Folter, superintendent of the Oakland Traction company, this morning agreed that apparently the crew of the freight car was to blame but said that a thorough inquiry would be made.

FRENCH NOBLEMAN WILL BE DEPORTED

NEW YORK, April 24.—The Marquis Beatrice de Langon of Paris, who arrived here on the French liner Savoie to invest his fortune in American securities and take up a permanent residence in New York, is today on Ellis Island awaiting deportation to France. He boarded the ship in a hurry and got on the additional list with a young woman who was manifested as Mme. de Langon. Commissioner Williams found that the marquis and the lady were not married, and, although the marquis declared otherwise, a board of inquiry decided that they must be sent back.

9 O'CLOCK CURFEW FALSE WILL MADE WANTED FOR MEN TO CHEAT SISTER

Cincinnati Woman Says They Should Be Home at an Early Hour.

CINCINNATI, April 24.—What otherwise would have been a dull and listless meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was enlivened when Miss Jennie Black stepped long enough in her seat to speak before the organization to advocate a curfew law for men in Cincinnati. The idea has taken root and will be discussed at a meeting when plans will be made to have such a law passed if possible.

"Men should be made to get off the streets not later than 9 o'clock," said Miss Black, "unless they furnish ample excuse for remaining out longer." Miss Black added that women and children should be permitted to stay out as long as they pleased and have the parks and streets to themselves.

Several leading members of women's clubs have declared they will support the movement.

POINTS OUT EVILS.

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Rev. John N. Underwood of Pittsburgh addressed a temperance rally held in connection with the Columbia Union Conference of Seventh Day Adventists.

Concerning the evils of alcohol, he said:

"That 4000 wives are killed every year with revolvers, hatchets, knives, clubs and other weapons.

That 2500 babies are killed by drunken fathers, who fall into bed and crush their lives out.

That ninety out of every 100 divorces are caused by liquor.

Women Confess They Wrote Instrument Which Left Her Out of Estate.

MARION, Ind., April 24.—Two sisters pleaded guilty to having forged and filed for probate a will denying a third sister a share in the $10,000 estate of an aunt. The defendants, Viola Hildebrand and Alice Rickard, admitted that they had written the fraudulent will as a result of which their sister, Marian Zehardt, received no part of the property of their aunt, Mrs. Marian Miller, whereas by the genuine will the sister was bequeathed one-third. Her attorneys report that the forgery was due to only ill feeling between the sisters. The court deferred passing sentence.

BROTHER AND SISTER WED THEN OBTAIN DIVORCE

CINCINNATI, April 24.—A strange story which resulted in John R. Ruch, Jr., aged 22 years, being granted a divorce from his half-sister, Helen Hoffmann Ruch, 24, was related in court here. The two were married October 35, 1910, neither at the time knowing of the blood relationship between them.

The discovery of the relationship was disclosed a few weeks ago and the action for a divorce followed.

It was explained to the court that the mistake had been possible because the mother had hidden from the children the fact that they were half-brother and half-sister, allowing them to believe that the girl was only a friend.

The court will also liquidate the tough matter, and make it easier to expiate.

When your child is growing cough he should be kept the cough loose and expiation easy by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as may be required. This remedy will also liquidate the tough matter, and make it easier to expiate.

It has been used successfully in many epidemics and is safe and sure. For sale by Osgood Bros' drug stores.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS
MRS. ISMAY, BOWED IN GRIEF, MAKES PLEA FOR HER SPOUSE

The Wife of White Star Head Repudiates the Charges Against Husband.

LONDON, April 24.—An American woman in London, the wife of one of the men saved from the poll of the Titanic's deck is bowed down with a weight of woe which is attracting the heartfelt sympathy of all England. This woman, a nervous wreck from grief and anguish, is the wife of J. Bruce Ismay, the head of the White Star line, now the center spot of criticism throughout the United States. Mrs. Ismay is one, at least, who repudiates the charges against her husband, and she is an American who loves her country and venerates its code of chivalry. Here is a pathetic figure as she passes from periods of utter collapse to hysterical efforts to call her husband to her side.

She has sent cable after cable urging him to come back, and begging her American friends not to judge hastily or condemn before all the facts are known. Then, she believes, it will be found that Ismay is to be praised instead of being held forth as a subject of international condemnation. She believes in him implicitly and trusts to his ability to clear himself. And meanwhile she is torn by anxiety and humiliation 3000 miles from the husband upon whose honor she stakes her own pride and love.

Before her marriage Mrs. Ismay was the courted and captivating Miss Schieffelin, daughter of Mrs. George B. Schieffelin of New York and the niece of Gustav Amsink. One of her sisters is Mrs. C. Fowler Ismay, another is Mrs. Henry G. Lefever and her brother, George R. D. Schieffelin, married Miss Louise Scribner.

Re-weds in Rush

RENO, APRIL 24.—A few hours after the decree divorcing her from Thomas B. Mumford, golf player and clubman of Los Angeles, San Francisco and New York, was signed, Mrs. Elizabeth Bussell Mumford was married here to Frank I. Towle, a wealthy San Francisco business man.

The wedding occurred last evening in Mrs. Mumford's apartments. Only a few fellow members of the divorce felony attended. Justice of the Peace Lee Davis read the service. A wedding supper followed and the couple left on the night train for San Francisco. The group's presents were all diamonds, valued at several thousand dollars.

Towle, who is president of the Towle Maple Products Company of San Francisco, secured the license this afternoon, shortly after the decree of his future wife had been signed. Mrs. Mumford's divorce was granted yesterday. Towle gave his age as 35 and the bride's as "over 21."

Brand Playmate

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—After watching desperadoes apply hot irons to stolen cattle, three South San Francisco youths decided to be bad men themselves, and made a third-year-old Cesare Boley their victim. Two held her while a third placed a hot branding iron on her back. The brand was a large R, which made her a member of the desperado clan. She endured the suffering and kept the secret, and though the branding took place on April 19, her parents did not discover it until yesterday.

The three boys—Andrew Freitas, Manuel Tobashi and Saha Francisco—were placed under arrest. They had their preliminary hearing before Recorder William Rehbein last night on the charge of maltreatment and were bound over to the juvenile court. Although the girl's injuries were painful at the time, they will not prove serious. Doctors who examined her, however, declare that the marks will remain the rest of her life.

Diva on Screen

NEW YORK, April 24.—Madama Luisa Tetrazzini was the whole show at the Garden Theater yesterday afternoon, for in addition to viewing the public exhibition of "The Diva" and "The Singing of the Titanic" she was the hostess at a kinematico matinee all her own.

It was the diva's last public appearance in America, as a few hours later she went aboard the steamship Mauretania, which sailed for Europe at 1 o'clock this morning.

Madama Tetrazzini was accompanied by a score of intimate New York and San Francisco friends and operatic associates, whom she had invited to witness with her, for the first time, a series of motion pictures, in which she played the star part in two notable Pacific coast events.

One of these was the unveiling of the Tetrazzini tablet a month ago in commemoration of her singing to the assembled populace of San Francisco on Christmas eve, 1910, and the other on Good Friday last when thousands gathered to hear her sing in the open air amphitheater of the Greek Theater at the University of California.

The Beauty of Cleopatra
By LILLIAN RUSSELL

(Copyright, 1912, Lillian Russell.)

THIS queen appeared upon the stage of history at the age of 14. She was considered a beautiful Greek princess, who could speak several languages fluently. She was only 19 years of age when she attracted Caesar, then in the midst of his triumph. Her powers of fascination must have been marvelous to have enchained the great captain and diverted him from his conquests.

Plutarch, in his history of Antony, describes Cleopatra as more clever than beautiful: "Her beauty was (it is said) neither astonishing nor inimitable; but it derived a force from her wit, and the fascination of her manner, which was absolutely irresistible."

"Her voice was delightfully melodious and had the same variety of modulation as an instrument of many strings. She spoke most languages and there were but few of the foreign ambassadors whom she answered by an interpreter."

Plutarch says again that "Antony was so wholly engrossed by her charms that while his wife, Fulvia, was maintaining his interests in Rome against Caesar, and the Parthian forces, assembled under the conduct of Labienus in Mesopotamia, were ready to enter Syria, she led her amorous captive in triumph to Alexandria. There the veteran warrior fell into every idle excess of puerile amusement and offered at the shrine of luxury the greatest of all sacrifices, 'the sacrifice of time.'"

Antony's love for Cleopatra was not the fascination of a year, but from all time to all time. She was a pagan and knew nothing of a God. She had gods many; so she knew no other religion than self-gratification and aggrandizement. Had she lived today, with a knowledge of Christianity, she would probably have been as great a woman, but in a better way.

She repaid Antony by faithfulness. Plutarch says: "She dressed like a servant and accompanied him on his hunting and fishing trips. When he paid his servants to place fish on his line so that he might brag of his success as a fisherman it was the humor of Cleopatra that made one of the servants put a salted fish upon his line."

She then said: "Go, general, leave fishing to us petty princes of Pharos and Canopus; your game is cities, kingdoms and provinces."

History says that Cleopatra was 28 when she met Antony. "A period of life (as Plutarch says) when woman's beauty is most splendid and her intellect in full maturity." She held Antony fourteen years, when he was burdened with great public cares and duties, and when he was over 50 years of age.

The battle of Actium virtually settled the civil war and the fortunes of Antony, although he afterward fought bravely and energetically, but all to no purpose. And with his ruin was the ruin of Cleopatra. She retired into a castle which she had prepared for herself (in case of necessity), with her most valuable treasures, and sent messengers to Antony, who reported to him that she was dead.

His wrath now vanished with his grief, and he fell upon his own sword. He ordered his servants to take him to Cleopatra. Covered with blood, the dying general was drawn up by ropes and through a window (the only entrance to the queen's retreat that was left unbarred) into her presence and soon died.

Some historians say that Cleopatra recovered and set out to win Octavius that she might retain her own sovereignty or the independence of Egypt. But Plutarch says that she begged of Caesar to let her be buried beside Antony. That there was no certainty that she died from the bite of an asp.

She was found dressed for a banquet, with her two favorite women, Iras and Charmion. It was reported that she had a certain poison with her always concealed in a bodkin and that she died from that poison. Caesar had her buried in the tomb of Antony. Some portraits of Cleopatra show her thick-lipped and heavy. But others show her with perfect features, but severe, regular, but not beautiful, according to our present ideas of beauty.

We cannot learn much from the history of this great queen, her point of view was so different from our own. But we can rest assured that her heart was true and beautiful in her faithfulness to Antony. She was but 39 when she died of life, but she, like all pagan women, knew no life but selfishness.

"Paganism never recognized women's equality with men. Deprive women of education, and especially of that respect which Christian chivalry inspires, and they cannot rise to be the equal companions of men. Paganism taught the inequality of sexes and produced it, and when this inequality is taught or believed, or insisted upon, then farewell to the glory of homes, to all unpurchased charms, to the graces of domestic life, to everything that gilds our brief existence with the radiance of imperishable joy."

can step in when a man beats his wife, but it is powerless to do anything to stop his making love to her." Judge Wilbur ruled yesterday when Mrs. Hazel Parks appeared to him to protect her from the law of the state. Mrs. Parks had been married to her husband for 14 years, and he had been married to her for 14 years. She wanted a restraining order.

Mrs. Parks was originally in the juvenile court on the complaint of the husband that she was not a proper person to have the custody of their children. The probation officer says the husband is jealous of his own children and wants his wife all to himself.

She is ready for bed each evening at 8 o'clock.

MRS. R. L. W.—I would not advise you to use anything on your little girl's head. She is so young her hair has plenty of time to grow. I would advise you to have the child's hair cut "Dutch" style and keep it that way until she is about 12 or 14 years old. This will make it thicker and it will grow better. If you care for it send me a self-addressed stamped envelope and I shall be glad to send you the formula for an excellent shampoo for the hair.

JENNIE—I cannot give you any advice about the articles you mention, as I know nothing about them. I have a remedy for freckles and shall be glad to send it to you if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

A. B. R.—The creams should not be stiff. They should be soft enough to work easily. Are you sure there was no mistake in the ingredients. They must be measured exactly. The cucumber cream should be kept in a cool place. I will send you a stamped, addressed envelope. I shall be happy to send you a formula for an excellent cold cream.

MRS. E. T.—I would not advise you to use dry shampoos on your hair too often. It clogs the pores. Once a week is too often to wash the hair. Twice a month or three times is enough. If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope I shall be happy to send you a formula for an excellent shampoo for the hair. Do not fail to rise all the lotion out of your hair, for nothing will spoil hair more quickly than soap if it is allowed to remain.

FLORA—I do not advise the use of olive oil on the face. It is too heavy and will cause a growth of hair. Don't put ammonia into the water when washing. If you wish to kill the roots of the hair mix two-thirds peroxide with one-third ammonia. If you will send me a self-addressed stamped envelope, I will send you the formula for an excellent cream which is good for dry skin, and also the formula for removing superfluous hair.

NEW YORK, April 24.—The oldest woman in New Jersey, Winifred Farrell of East Orange, who recently celebrated her one hundred and fourth birthday, is seriously ill and, it is feared, cannot recover. It is only within the last year that Mrs. Farrell had begun to fail. She could send and receive letters, but not walk.

Mediators Neill and Knapp Will Confer With Railroads and Engineers.

Increased Wages to Be Asked by Other Employees, Is the Report.

NEW YORK, April 24. — Charles P. Neill, United States Labor Commissioner, and Judge Martin A. Knapp of the United States Commerce Court, took up today the work of mediation between the fifty railroads east of Chicago and north of the Potomac river and the engineers over the question of increased wages.

Commissioner Neill will confer with the railroad officials to ascertain their position and reasons for refusing the demands for increased wages and to learn what form the railroads desire the proposed arbitration to take. Later Commissioner Neill or Judge Knapp will confer with the engineers. A comparison of the positions of both sides will then be possible and the mediators will know whether it will be necessary to submit the whole matter to an arbitration board or not.

There are indications that the railroads will suggest that the whole matter be thrashed out before a general arbitration board in the same manner that the anthracite coal situation is being adjusted.

EXPECT OTHER DEMANDS.

The demands of the engineers, it was generally reported today, are to be followed by demands for increased wages by other railroad employees and a general arbitration board would be able to bring out a settlement of these wage problems.

Judge Knapp and Commissioner Neill conferred with members of the conference committee of managers today. Afterward the government officials will confer with the chairman's committee of 50, headed by Grand Chief Stone of the engineers.

Commissioner Neill said that if the conference with the managers' committee was concluded in time, the engineers would be called this afternoon; if not they would be heard tomorrow. Neill said he believed it would be several days before the matter would be in shape to be made public. He was hopeful of a final settlement.

RAISE WAGE DEMAND.

The sub-committee which is arranging the terms of settlement in the anthracite coal situation has raised the wage increase, it is reported, from 5 to 5.5 per cent, and may make further increases.

It is believed the operators will agree to abolish the conciliation board and to substitute a plan by which grievances will be settled direct.

The sliding scale will remain in force, the base, it is reported, will be increased from $4.50 to $4.75.

The operators are said to have informed the miners' committee of their intention to raise the price of coal. It also is said there will be no eight-hour day and no other concessions.

APPOINT SUB COMMITTEE.

The conference committee of managers appointed a sub-committee with full power to act for the railroads in the deliberations with Commissioner Neill and Judge Knapp. The sub-committee is composed of J. C. Stuart, vice-president and general manager of the Erie, G. L. Peck, vice president and general manager of the Erie Railroad, west; H. J. Horn, vice president and general manager of the New Haven, B. A. Worthington, receiver of the Wheeling and Lake Erie, and A. M. Smith, vice president and general manager of the N. Y. Central lines.

Grand Chief Stone and the committee of engineers were notified that Knapp and Neill would be in conference all day with the sub-committee of railroad managers and that they would not be able to confer with the engineers until tomorrow.

FOUR BANDITS ESCAPE AFTER BLOWING SAFE

Obtain $8000, Set Fire to Building and Resist Attack Successfully

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 24.—After a two-hours running fight with a posse of citizens, four robbers who had blown the vault in the bank of Midland, 30 miles south of Fort Smith, escaped with their loot, about $8,000.

The robbery had been carefully planned. All telephone wires had been cut. Awakened by explosions, several persons tried to communicate with friends. Finding that the telephone exchange did not respond, they armed themselves and aroused neighbors.

This first person nearing the bank was recoiled with a volley from the robbers' lookouts. This was the signal for a two-hours fight. After the robbers got all the money in the safe and set fire to the building. Sheltered by the flames, the robbers got a good start and the policemen were unable to outflank them.

Destruction of papers in the flames will double the loss.

TWO VESSELS NEAR STRICKEN TITANIC

Californian 20 Miles Away; Wireless Operator Asleep After Long Shift.

BOSTON, April 24.—The Leyland line steamer Californian was within twenty miles of the Titanic when the latter struck the iceberg. Captain Lord of the Californian said yesterday that his engines were shut down all that night on account of the loss of a member of the crew said that the Californian was lying within less than twenty miles of the Titanic that night, and that the wireless operator was asleep, exhausted from seventeen hours of continuous work.

Captain Lord was asked: "Captain, it has been said that the Californian was the one that passed within five miles of the sinking Titanic and disregarded her signals." Captain Lord replied: "I will only say one thing and you may draw your own conclusions. I steamed into an immense ice field at 10:30 o'clock that Sunday night. The engines were shut down and remained shut down until we got the Virginian's message next morning. Then I started with all haste for the scene of the disaster."

JUANITA MILLER STILL HEART FREE

Daughter of Poet Denies the Rumor of Romance on "Heights."

Juanita Miller, coquette daughter of the bard of the Sierras laughingly denied today to interviewers that she was about to marry.

"The very idea," she laughed, tossing dark locks from a fair face in which the dimples were playing. "Where did you newspaper men ever get such a story?"

Someone suggested a report that a certain ardent swain had been seen to call at "The Heights" every Sunday evening for the last twelve weeks. Miss Miller blushed guiltily and became suddenly serious.

"Well, I am not going to get married as long as I can be of use to my dear father who could never get along now without me. I won't deny that, like every woman, I look forward some day to a happy marriage. Now really, that's all I can say on the subject. Would you like to take my picture?"

ANGELS BUNT THE BALL TO VICTORY

Dillon's Old Trick Is Good for 3 Marks on Board

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—The Angels were winners today from Sacramento, and Frank Dillon's old trick of bunting a southpaw pitcher did the work. The score was 3 to 1.

Core, pretty swift customer for a heavy man, bunted to Byram, and Herb heaved the ball high over first base. The runners pulled up on second and first bases with nobody out, and Brooks came to the plate with pretense to shove another bunt away from the plate.

The catcher obeyed the command like a soldier. He stuck the business end of his bat against the ball, and it rolled slowly over the ground. Byram pounced down upon the chance and turned to cut off Metzger at third. These were his intentions, but his low throw was one that little Tommy Sheehan could not have handled with two sets of arms. The ball shot by the base and traveled into left field while Metzger, and Core scored. Brooks went down to second.

Tosser struck out. Howard fled to center. Berger rided a chance to Heister, who threw low past first base, allowing Brooks to score. Three runs made by bunting, and Dillon didn't even say "I told you so" after the shooting was over.

The Senators grabbed their one run in the sixth inning. With two in the diamonds Cheek drove the ball against the left field fence for a double and scored when Byram poked a clean single to center.

Pitcher Miller of the Seals, who held the Tigers down to two hits yesterday across the bay.

SEALS MAKE SPLURGE ON THEIR HOME APPEARANCE

Start Out by Walloping Tigers All Around The Field; Fans Ticked

When the Seals came back to San Francisco yesterday to take up their week's argument with the Tigers, they were distinctively on the aggressive, and from start to finish in the contest they showed a remarkable amount of form.

With Pitcher Frank Miller the star performer. He took the rostrum with an unassuming manner that said nothing. He uncoiled himself repeatedly in a style that had its effect upon the visitors, and to their amazement, the judges gave them but two little hits; one of these is alleged to have been scratch.

So the fans on the other side of the bay are exceedingly happy, and Hero Miller is credited with having put the team on the climb up the percentage ladder. Just because of him, the game, outside of the pitcher, was somewhat tame. The Vernons never got within striking distance of that elusive place of rubber and when the game was over the Seals were figuratively in clover and the big black board at the other end of the field showed them to have three to a goose egg.

It was some satisfaction to the roots to have their home team step right out of the train from the north and give such a creditable first appearance of the week on the local grounds. They simply shut out Hogan's men by sheer determination and playing ball. Happy came up from the south and visited San Francisco at about the same time. He and his outfit were clad in the real baby doll fashion and caused some flurry among the wrens.

Miller, who wore sweater coats just grand, exclaimed one group in union, as they eyed the black jackets trimmed with wide orange borders.

Well, outside of that, the game started in right at the beginning, when the visitors had gone down to the benches without anything like a run.

Then Miller, who got a lively hand each time he stepped up to the plate, which was four altogether, would have knocked a home run had he been so fence around the place. At that, he got a two bagger and things were looking up. Miller took a walk and Johnson sacrificed. Cheek Hartley fulfilled all expectations by putting one over second and Miller did a lively sprint home.

Totally one. Miller had a close call from doing it again but he was thrown out by Bayless. However, Hartley got as far as second on the play. Johnson picked up the stick and hit the ball a lick way out across first, close to the line, and made two bases by running hard. But that was not all. Hartley took the bunch and went home. The score then read 2 to 1, which was pretty fair for the first inning.

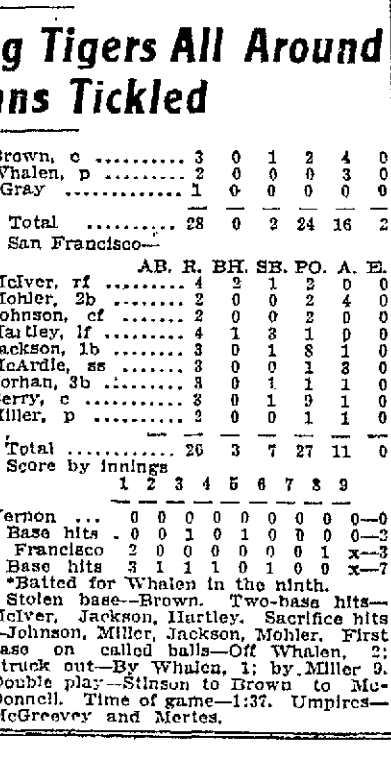

Nothing sensational outside of a good one-handed stop by Hartley and several clever stunts, in passing the ball between Braashear and Hogan, occurred until the third, when the Tigers through Miller Brown, hit a little one over second base. Again the stunt was done by Three-B. McDowell in the fifth, when he barked off one through Mohler.

In the eighth frame another run, was got something after this fashion: Miller binged Miller to second and the Tiger fumbled same. Mohler bunted and Miller trotted along to second. Hartley placed a warm one out to Litchi and the ball was fumbled again; then he threw wild to Hop and Miller scored.

Now, if you are a real fan, this will tell the truth; if not, learn the names and never mind those figures.

KID GEORGE, who will fight Howard Morrow at the Wheelmen's show tonight.

DIAMOND GOSSIP

DETROIT, April 20.—There is little doubt now that 1912 was the passing of George Moriarty as a regular on the Tiger infield. In the splitting up the Detroit squad to send them north, the veteran left shaker was assigned to the second team. It is in managing and playing first base for the Tiger club on the joint home.

A week ago it was reported in Washington that Moriarty had been offered to Griffith and that the new leader of the Nationals did not want him. Griffith made every endeavor to secure the Tiger during the winter, but with the later advent of the trade with the Highlanders that brought Jack McIntosh to Washington he lost his lead for Moriarty. Again they felt in Washington that if Jennings was letting him go, the infielder must be "all in."

Nothing actually definite has been announced by Hughes as to whether Moriarty will be let go or not, and even now it is highly probable that he will be retained. If O'Leary was done as a regular before Moriarty the latter should have the edge for the assistant job.

Speaking of Detroit, for the second time since the 1910, was told that fat and last spring and found wanting, and then sent to the Central League. He had another good year there and was named at the close of the season. For a time this spring it has looked as if he would make good, but it is back to the Central or a class A circuit.

Whether Herman Schaefer will keep up the pace set last year is the big question for Washington.

M'GUIGAN TO BE THE REFEREE AT BIG SCRAP

NEW YORK, April 24.—The managers of Matt Wells and Packey McFarland, who are to meet at Madison Square Garden next Friday night, selected Jack McGuigan of Philadelphia to act as referee. It will be necessary for McGuigan to obtain a license as referee from the State Boxing Commission, but this, it is believed, he will have no trouble in doing.

The public has been warned in published notice not to pay over the face value marked on tickets. It is announced that all speculators caught selling tickets will be arrested on warrants sworn out by the club officials.

MEETING TO BE BIG EVENT, WRITES LEE DEMIER

Lee Demier, the TRIBUNE's racing writer, writes from Spokane that the race meeting there, which he will take in, will be one of the biggest ever held in the north. Horsemen and followers of the racing game, including a large number of Oakland and San Francisco turfites, are already in the city, and the hotels, he says, are all filled. A full description of preparations for the meet, written by the well-known turf authority, will be published in THE TRIBUNE within a few days.

"The weather is cold," writes Demier, "and few attended the ball games, although the opening was well attended."

GAME IN NORTH STOPPED BY RAIN

PORTLAND, April 24.—With honors even in the third inning, 2-2, rain interfered with the game yesterday afternoon and Umpire-in-Chief Hildebrand decided to call it off after a twenty minute lay-off in the middle of the second frame. The ground suffered a heavy precipitation and was in no shape to resume the game.

Bob Ables and Koestner were in good form and a pitchers' battle was imminent. For the benefit of the curious the following facts about the synopsized contest are appended:

Coy walked in the second, but was struck out on Peterson's grounder to Rodgers. Hitting fled to Krueger. Rapps tried to gather in Wilkinson's comparatively easy foul and muffed, and the utility man doubled to the right field fence. Mitza followed with a single to center and Pat and Wilkinson scored, but Hous was caught on a throw-in from Krueger, Koestner pivoting to Rodgers.

After a 20 minute lay-off, Howley beat one out to Helling and then Koestner fouled to Gus. Ables hit both Chabouss and Rodgers on the arm and the bases were emptied. Krueger came through with a single to left and Chad and Rodgers were across. Rapps hit into a double play, and the inning was over.

Although they didn't break into the records the players showed something real. "These Oaks look as if they are going to be hard to stop. They have more pepper than the Seal and Beaver outfits combined. Our old friend Gus Helling had a busy trio of innings, handling chances perfectly. Too bad they will not get into the official average.

The Oakland Giants began their season with a victory over the fast J. H. Kruse team last Sunday on the State league grounds by a 3 to 1 score. One of the features of the game was the fast fielding of the Kruse team on hard hit balls, but the Giants displayed remarkable baseball at the critical time which practically won the game for them.

The game was a pitchers' battle from the start between Meadows and Coyne, the former being a fast baller and the latter a slow baller. The opposing team three scattered hits, while Coyne was touched up for seven.

PORTLAND ATHLETES ARE ON WAY TO COAST

PORTLAND, April 24.—Sixteen of the most prominent young athletes of the city left Portland yesterday afternoon on the Shasta limited for Stanford, where they will uphold the state of Oregon in the interschool field meet there next Saturday. All of the Portland boys are in the best of condition and are going with the intention of bringing the supremacy in the field sports home with them. The largest representation is from the Washington high school, which sent 10 men. Jefferson sent four and Lincoln two, and all will be in charge of Coach Hatch, the Washington high school coach.

NATIONAL HANDICAP GOLF LIST RECEIVED

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—From time to time criticisms of the national golf handicap list are received, and while an occasional "kick" is received, the work of the committee has been well received. A. W. Tillinghast, the well-known Philadelphia amateur, reluctantly admits that the handicap opponents of the game in this city are at least three strokes worse than the scratch men of United States Golf Association rating, but he also states the statement that there really isn't a scratch player in the country.

"I have assumed that we have our scratch men correctly placed, let us compare notes. For instance, the players who have received four strokes are: Fred Hunter, Philadelphia; George A. Crump, Henry B. Heydorn, Howard W. Farris, Walter G. Farris, William G. Farris, and Thomas G. Farris. From the metropolitan district we find Robert A. Graham, Charles Seely, and J. Sullivan. I think almost any one would prefer to back the Philadelphia players against the New York players. And they are. I do not think that Walter Whitman can concede two strokes to any one of the players who are rated. O. B. Dutton, who receives five, would make it extremely interesting for any one of the metropolitan players who are rated a stroke better.

"On the whole, I think the list is a very good one, and that the work of the committee has been well received. I do not think that Walter Whitman can concede two strokes to any one of the players who are rated. O. B. Dutton, who receives five, would make it extremely interesting for any one of the metropolitan players who are rated a stroke better.

A British member of the nobility was playing golf with a club member when they came to a hole where the greenskeeper was making alterations. The peer, who was on the green, asked the club member to wait while he went to the hole and said so to the greenskeeper. The peer did not agree with him and supported the club member. The club secretary was playing a short distance behind and, observing the discussion, asked the club member what he was doing. "Well, sir," was the reply, "the lord said I was to wait."

Young Fisher, who considered that his style was an improvement on that of Harry Vardon, had persuaded a friend to photograph him in the act of driving from the tee. The picture having been taken, Fisher remarked: "I think that ought to turn out to be a perfect model of the ideal golfing swing, don't you?" "The answer," replied the photographer, "is in the negative."

The Kansas Country Club officials have decided to return to the old arrangement of holes, calling for a new set of numbers. The new set has been No. 18. This makes the short "greens" green the green instead of No. 18. The new set was given to the club by the new clubhouse.

CLEVELAND, April 24.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, has been offered a match with Johnny Dundee in New York May 15. Kilbane to receive $2000, or 40 percent of the gate receipts. The bout is to be 10 rounds.

CHARLES J. DOWD DIES

MILL VALLEY, April 24.—Charles J. Dowd, 47 years old, formerly supervisor of Marin county, died at his home here yesterday. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emma Dowd, and three children: Miss Lillian and Miss Emma Dowd; Irwin and Vivian Dowd, all of this city. The funeral services will be held Friday at Fernwood cemetery at Sausalito, under the auspices of the San Francisco Elks club.

Lightweights Features of Splendid Card at Local Club

Tonight will be the big night at the Oakland Wheelmen, the matchmaker of the organization having matched a card of high class boxers. Kid George, the Stockton middleweight, has been installed a 10 to 8 favorite over Howard Morrow, the Syracuse boxer who is sponsored by Tommy Ryan. It looks like an even choice from this angle, and if one of the scrappers secures a decisive win it will be a surprise. The card which will be offered by the Wheelmen club appears above.

Morrow is a protégé of Tommy Ryan, the former champion middleweight. He comes highly recommended and his record shows that he is a boxer who gives great promise. The fans in this section know little about Morrow's ability as a ringman, but his training work has been impressive, and he will be given considerable backing when he clashes with George this evening.

Harry Gilmore Jr., writing from Los Angeles, challenges the winner, on behalf of Jack Herrick, for a $500 side bet. George is well known by the local fans. He is a well known middleweight and has been good. He is likely to go into the ring a choice over the Chicagoan. The betting on the bout last night was even.

The other bouts on the card are as follows: Babe Plonto vs. Ray Baughman of Palmdale, six rounds; Ray Baughman vs. Mark Ryan, four rounds; and Bert Slavich vs. George Erickson, four rounds.

ABE ATTELL WINNER; EXHIBITION IS POOR

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 24.—In one of the most unsatisfactory fights ever staged here ABE Attell, one time featherweight champion, knocked out Jimmy Carroll of San Francisco in the seventh round of a scheduled 20-round bout. At all showed nothing approaching championship class, and Carroll gave the appearance of looking in much better shape. The fight was a poor exhibition, and the crowd was small.

Salvatore of Sacramento, sparring partner of Ad Volgas, went 10 rounds to a draw with Manuel Viera of Oakland in the last bout of the card put on by the Capital Athletic club.

BILLY GRUPP WINS HIS CONTEST WITH NELSON

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—Billy Grupp, local middle-weight, had little trouble out-pointing Ted Nelson, the Australian champion, in eight rounds here. John Moran, feather weight from Pittsburg, was knocked out in the first round of a scheduled six-round bout with Jack Shelton.

CLEVELAND TEAM IS OUT ON FIELD AGAIN

CLEVELAND, April 24.—The Cleveland team of the United States League held its first practice game today. Nearly thirty players reported to Manager Jack O'Connor, the old National and American league catcher, among them Catcher Howard Wakefield, Outfielder Joe Delahanty and First Baseman Jerry Freeman, former major league players.

HIKERS WILL WALK FROM NEW YORK HERE

NEW YORK, April 24.—Willie Hayes, brother of the London Marathoner and Sergeant Julian J. Murphy of the coast artillery, are completing plans for their long hike from New York to San Francisco.

They will leave the city hall here May 20. They will walk in uniform, and pitch tents along the route, and cook their own meals. They count on traveling 25 miles a day. They expect to reach the coast on October 1.

They are both members of the Irish-American Athletic Club and Murphy particularly has a fine record as an athlete. He coached Mike Ryan, his duathlete, in the recent Boston Marathon won by Ryan.

ST. PETER'S WINS FROM ST. CHARLES' PLAYERS
SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—St. Peter's Grammar School baseball team had little difficulty in winning from St. Charles' in the class A division of the Catholic Schools Athletic League baseball tournament yesterday at the Southside playgrounds. The final score was 20 to 7.

Carl of St. Charles was driven from the mound in the first inning when seven runs were scored. He was succeeded by O'Malley, Toomey and Farren formed the battery for St. Peter's.

The Star of St. Peter's and Sacred Heart Grammar teams will play in the first game of the class B division next Friday at the Golden Gate Park grounds. The contest was scheduled for last Thursday, but was postponed.

NEW PITCHERS.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 24.—After winning three pennants in the old Eastern League without a "southpaw" on his twirling staff, John Ganzel has decided that he will require a "portlander" this year and has obtained George Clark from the New York Americans.

NO "COME BACK" WHEN S.S. CURES

To every Contagious Blood Poison sufferer we recommend S. S. S. as a positive specific for the disease. It is a remedy which makes a clean cure and so thoroughly conquers this powerful infection that there is never any danger of a "come back" of the trouble in any form. This is the experience of the many thousands who have used S. S. S. during the forty years it has been upon the market.

Because of the treacherous and destructive nature of Contagious Blood Poison most medicines used for the treatment of the disease are composed largely of mineral drugs. It is intended that these shall kill the germs and virus of the disease by working on the principle that one poison counteracts the effects of another. Such treatment always fails to make a permanent cure because these germs cannot be killed within the system. Strong mineral mixtures may temporarily check the activity of the contagious virus, and in this way "dry up" or remove the outer signs of blood poison, but as soon as such treatment is left off and the system reacts from its influence, the disease "comes back" and the sufferer finds he has been deceived.

In no other disease is a thorough cleansing of the blood more necessary than in Contagious Blood Poison. The least particle of the insidious virus will multiply in the circulation and so thoroughly contaminate the blood that no portion of the body is exempt from infection. Knowing the terrible results which may come from delay, or improper treatment of Contagious Blood Poison, we warn every sufferer not to trifle with this disease. It is too powerful and dangerous and may wreck and ruin your life.

S. S. S. works on a very different principle from the mineral medicines. This remedy REMOVES the germs from the blood instead of trying to destroy them within the system. S. S. S. is able to do this in every case because it is an absolutely perfect blood purifier. S. S. S. cures by going down into the blood and forcing out every particle of the virus and making the circulation rich, pure and healthy. Through the blood it goes to every nook and corner of the system and as the body is supplied with this fresh pure blood the symptoms of Blood Poison gradually pass away and the disease is permanently cured. S. S. S. does not patch up the body; it cures and makes it healthy, and when it has done its work no trace of the disease is left to "come back" in any form or be handed down to posterity. S. S. S. does not contain a particle of mineral or other harmful drug; it is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks and is Nature's safe and true blood purifier. Anyone can take S. S. S. without the least fear of injurious results. Special book on Home Treatment, and any medical advice will be given free to all who write and request same.

It took a dangerous and painful experience to prove to Mrs. Hattie Hall that she had let her health run down. In a letter from Schenectady, N. Under the regular use of Vinol to enrich and purify my blood and build up my strength, this was soon healed up and my general health very much improved."

SHANAHAN MEASURE
ATTACKED, IS CHARGE

SACRAMENTO, April 24.—Dr. Frederick Burke, president of the San Francisco State Normal School, a member of the State Text-book Committee and a member of the State Board of Education, declares that the proposed initiative amendment to the Constitution recently launched by the State Council of Education, composed of teachers of Los Angeles, is without doubt the instrument of the so-called book trust for the purpose of defeating the Shanahan amendment, which proposed free text-books for the elementary schools.

"If this amendment is jammed through," says Burke, "it will mean that more books must be purchased, because every county board and every city board will have power to select its own series."

"It would mean, in short, that the boards of education and teachers in every county would be at the mercy of the book agents. This council of education amendment was approved by vote of twenty-eight to one, and there is no doubt that it was packed in the interest of the book trust."

PIANO ENDURANCE
TEST IS ON TODAY

"Professor" Baucia Undertakes to Play Instrument
50 Successive Hours.

NEW YORK, April 24.—A crowd, not unlike that which annually flocks to Madison Square Garden for the six-day bicycle races, is today watching a somewhat different endurance test in the ball room of Tammany Hall, where "Professor" Camille Baucia, late of Venice, Italy, is undertaking to perform the phenomenal feat of playing the piano for fifty hours. If successful, the professor, who calls himself "the champion of the world of piano resistance," will smash the hitherto unbroken record of thirty hours' continuous playing made by "Professor" Sherman White of Richmond, Ind., and will also obtain a prize of $1500 offered by the Italian Art and Music Society of this city. The contest began at 8 o'clock last night.

Professor Baucia's contest with the piano is held under unique rules. He must not stop playing during the entire period, neither must he take any nourishment other than black coffee. In order to give himself a rest without stopping the professor varies his achievement by playing occasionally with one hand only. A staff of medical advisers is in attendance.

PLUCKY GIRL TAKES
DARE, DIVES 68 FEET

VENICE, Cal., April 24.—Taking a dare, Miss Gertrude Johnson, 18 years old, of Santa Monica, dived from the roof of the Venice auditorium into the ocean, a distance of 68 feet, yesterday, turning a complete somersault before striking the water, and then did not go more than 8 feet below the surface. A life guard offered Miss Johnson the dare, not thinking she would believe him serious in the matter. However, she immediately prepared for the dive. Disregarding attempts of bystanders to dissuade her, Miss Johnson performed the feat safely. She is noted as an amateur fancy diver.

DR. WILEY GIVES
ADVICE ON LIVING

Pure Food Expert Talks to the Committee on Interstate Commerce.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Harvey Wiley told the House committee on interstate commerce some of his views about living and housekeeping.

Advocating a bill to require the net weight of food packages to be stamped upon them, he declared that all food should be bought by weight or measure, and not simply by package.

"Dr. Wiley said a grocer recently tried to sell him a ham which he says weighed a certain amount."

"I asked him if he had weighed it and he said it was weighed when it came in last December," Dr. Wiley said.

"I made him weigh it again and it had lost three pounds. That saved me ninety cents."

Dr. Wiley paid his respects to federal authorities with whom he was in frequent controversy while chief of the bureau of chemistry.

"I have seen so many regulations made for keeping the law from accomplishing its full intent that I would like to see Congress tie the officials up pretty closely in the making of regulations in the future."

Dr. Wiley, in his capacity as "a farmer engaged in practical agriculture and as one who has been interested during his whole active life in the sugar industry," later filed with the Senate Finance Committee a protest against "free sugar," which he characterized as a "threat of the extinction of the industry."

"The production of sugar," Dr. Wiley said, "whether it be from beet or cane, requires the highest type of intensive culture that science has been able to suggest. The blow which free sugar would deal to the agricultural industries of this country only partly will be felt by those directly engaged in the culture and manufacture of this product. Its numbing influence would pervade all branches of agriculture, and put back the era of development for years."

Some Stylish Shoes sold by the YEAR

At last—Shoes of Certainty!
Wear and Service, in Shoes have always been a Lottery with Consumers—until now.

Investigation proves that the Soles of Uppers of average fine Shoes ($3.50 to $6.00) wear through, or break through, with less than 3 months continuous Service.

Observe that we said continuous Service.
This means wearing the same pair of Shoes 14 hours every day, for 30 days in each month.

So—given the Style you want, with the Fit and Comfort you need, Shoe Value depends upon how many Days the satisfactory combination will wear. This before resoling or repair is necessary.

SUPPOSE you paid only $3.50!
Divide 3 months into that price,
and find a cost of $1.17 per month.
Multiply that $1.17 by 12 months, and find a cost of $14.04 per year, for Shoe Wear.

Observe, however, that Leathers and Materials have advanced as much as 60% in the past 5 years.

Hence the average $3.50 Shoes cannot now be expected to give 3 months continuous Wear.

But, even if they did, their cost would be $14.04 per year, for pre-repair Wear.

Meantime, you can have the very latest
Style with the maximum of Comfort at $9.00 per year for Shoe Wear.
